Land Mine Blast In Indochina Kills Life Photographer

HANOI, Indochina, May 25 (AP)—French army headquarters announced tonight Robert Capa, widely known Hungarian - born American photographer, was killed today in a land mine explosion while covering the Indochina war front.

The announcement said he died in the blast of an enemy Vietminh mine near Phuly, an active war area 30 miles south of Hanoi.

No details were available immediately as to whether Capa was killed while walking or in a jeep.

A native of Budapest, Capa was widely known for his war-time work for Life Magazine and long had lived in Paris. He came to Indochina two weeks ago to augment the Life staff here.

Capa was the first American citizen photographer killed in the Indochina War.

Military Scrip Changed To Foil Counterfeiters

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 25 (AP)—The U.S. Defense Department today changed the military scrip used at its installations around the globe to a new gaudy-colored issue. It said the surprise move was aimed at thwarting "counterfeit activities."

An Army spokesman here said the conversion—the fourth since 1946—was taken primarily to crack a counterfeit ring in Japan in operation for some time. But there was no word from Tokyo confirming existence of a ring. Officers at the Pentagon said counterfeiters generally were the target for the change, but they knew of no ring operating now in Japan.

Millions Affected

The sweeping order affected all U.S. military and civilian personnel in the Far Eastern Command, Germany, Austria, Trieste, France, England, Greece, Morocco, Tripoli, Yugoslavia, Iceland, and Belgium. In Europe alone, half a million Americans were affected.

Army finance officers were swamped with business as holders of the vari-colored old scrip turned it in for the new in denominations ranging from five cents to 10 dollars. All U.S. military installations engaging in trade dealings except messes for transients shut down while the changeover was being made. The exchange was supposed to be complete by noon tomorrow, although those with "valid reasons" got five days additional time.

Official Explanation

The official explanation of the move was a terse Army announcement which said:

"Military scrip used by U.S. personnel overseas was ordered changed throughout the world today in a surprise move aimed at counterfeiting . . . Planned for several weeks, the scrip conversion remained a secret until 4 a.m. (11 p.m. Monday EST) today, when unit commanders were notified."

4-Year-Old Girl Feared Kidnaped

BURLINGAME, Calif., May 25 (AP)—A little girl was reported kidnaped today and police and the FBI began hunting a man who once had sought to adopt the child.

Kathie Dahleen Langdon, 4½, disappeared with a man Sunday while wearing a white and red sun suit.

Police Capt. John Harnett said an all-points bulletin was issued for Ervin L. Arnold, 46, a welder, described as "quite attached" to the child and who wanted to adopt her.

He said Arnold had been grieving over the recent death of his wife.

The officer said the little girl was playing in front of the home of her grandfather, Peter Dahl, Sunday morning.

An automobile driven by a man pulled up, two neighborhood children said, and the man talked with Kathie briefly. Then she entered the car and was driven away. She has not been seen since.

Moscow Assails American Airlift

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the Communist shipment of 10 million dollars worth of arms to leftist Guatemala may be a move to set up a Red bastion near the Panama Canal.

Guatemala is about 750 air miles from the vital canal link between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Commenting on mounting tension in Central America, Dulles reemphasized the warning of the 1954 Caracas resolution with a formal statement declaring:

U. S. Airlift Launched

Dulles spoke out at his news conference amid a series of nervous reactions arising from (1) the shipment of 2,000 tons of arms from Communist-run Poland to Guatemala and (2) a State Department announcement that U.S. arms are being rushed by airlift to Guatemala's neighbors, Nicaragua and Honduras.

Moscow radio denounced the U.S. action as preparation for "An attack against Guatemala."

Airlifting of guns for the two Central American countries began today. The Military Air Transport Service at Mobile, Ala., announced that two giant C124 Globemasters were en route there and would be processed during the day for flights to Central America.

Dulles Statement Praised

Dulles' statement at his news conference drew praise from Nicaraguan Ambassador Guillermo Sevilla Sacasa who described it as a timely account of the significance of the Guatemala crisis "as it relates to the threat to the security of the Americas."

In Guatemala, Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello said Dulles' remarks were "exaggerations on fantastic things." He said the purchase of arms by his country was a domestic affair which would not properly be considered by the organization of American States, which was set up to deal with hemisphere problems.

On Capiitol Hill, several lawmakers expressed concern over the possibility that Red military aid to Guatemala might be the first overt step toward a Moscow-directed grab in Latin America.

CIO Union Rejects GE Pay Boost Offer

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — The CIO International Union of Electrical workers today turned down an offer from General Electric Co. of a four to five cents an hour wage increase.

The IUE's conference board called the offer "completely inadequate in terms of the needs of GE workers and what the company could and should provide."

The rival United Electrical Workers (Ind) had already branded the wage offer "totally inadequate."

Order To Oust Dick Haymes Is Suspended

Immigration Appeals Board Cites Singer's 'Entrapment' Charge

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Board of Immigration Appeals today suspended a deportation order standing against actor - singer Dick Haymes, husband of actress Rita Hayworth.

The board ordered the Immigration Service to re-open Haymes' case for further hearings.

The board acted on the basis of a charge by Haymes' attorney that the 35-year-old crooner had been subjected to "entrapment" by immigration officials when he went to Hawaii last June to visit Miss Hayworth, whom he subsequently married.

Not Warned By Officials

When the board last May 11 heard argument on the deportation order, entered in March, Haymes' lawyer offered an affidavit by Richard R. Cody, former Immigration Service employe at Los Angeles. Cody said in the affidavit that when Haymes arranged the Hawaiian trip immigration officials instructed Cody not to warn Haymes that he might be ineligible to resume residence in the United States, once he left the mainland.

Born In Argentina

The attorney, Welburn Maycock, told the board that there appeared to be an official effort to get the Argentine-born Haymes out of the country, "by any means, moral or immoral."

Immigration officials have said that Haymes claimed exemption from the draft during World War II as an alien, and that his return to the United States violated the conditions of his admissibility here.

U. S. Breaks Off Its Prosecution Of Val Lorwin

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The government, avoiding a court showdown on its right to keep loyalty files secret, today dropped prosecution of Val R. Lorwin on charges that he lied when he denied Communist affiliations.

It said the prosecutor made misrepresentations to the grand jury which indicted the former State Department official last December. On that ground, District Judge Edward M. Curran dismissed the indictment at the request of Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III.

At the same time, the Justice Department announced suspension of William A. Gallagher, the Justice Department attorney who had presented the case to the grand jury. Gallagher could not be reached for comment.

Olney said the prosecution was authorized in January, 1953, by Charles E. Murray, then head of the criminal division. He said no one in the present administration had anything to do with the authorization.

Today's action followed efforts by the government to avoid a court order that it provide a transcript of the testimony which was given to the loyalty board by Harold Metz, now a research director for the Hoover Commission.

NYC Unsuccessful In Move To Spike Bob Young's Guns

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad failed today in a two-pronged legal appeal to spike Robert R. Young's guns at tomorrow's stockholders' meeting.

The railroad asked that the forces of Young, financier who seeks control of the Central, be blocked from voting a crucial 800,000 shares of stock at the meeting; or, if decision on this were delayed, that the court postpone the meeting.

Decision was reserved on both matters but presiding Justice David W. Peck of the Appellate Division, New York State Supreme Court, said:

"You can assume we are not going to enjoin the meeting."

Although the court could, technically, act at any time before the meeting gets under way in Albany, N.Y., tomorrow, the last roadblocks seemed to be removed.

The Central management had appealed a lower court ruling which refused to bar proxies for the 800,000 shares to their owners, the Texas millionaires Clint W. Murchison and Sid W. Richardson, who are friends of Young.

Central management has been contesting the validity of the stock sale since shortly after it was made for 20 million dollars in February by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, Young's former railroad.

Meanwhile, frenzied preparations were under way for the meeting Albany's Washington Avenue Armory set for noon EDT (11 a.m. EST) tomorrow.

About 2,500 of Central's 50,000-odd stockholders are expected for the biggest meeting of its kind in Central's history.

Crashing Plane Starts Big Fire At Newark, Del.

NEWARK, Del., May 25 (AP)—A twin engine Air Force C45 training plane crashed in a downtown lumber yard in this Delaware community tonight, exploding on impact and starting a huge fire visible as far away as Wilmington. Both crew members parachuted to safety, Air Force officials said and there were no immediate reports of any civilian casualties.

The plane hit the lumber yard directly across the street from St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church and spread flames to an office building in the lumber yard itself. Firemen laid down a water curtain to prevent the fire reaching three nearby gasoline stations.

Demos Outvoted As Foundations Probe Resumed

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Members of a special House committee, split sharply today over the course of an investigation into tax-exempt foundations.

Over the violent objections of Rep. Hays (D-Ohio), Republican members of the committee voted 3-2 to continue the public testimony of Aaron M. Sargent, a San Francisco lawyer who said some foundations have been fostering Fabian socialism. Sargent did not identify the foundations.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) told the committee "The real threat to the American system of government is not communism but Fabian socialism. And if any of the foundations have been fostering socialism, it is our duty to find out what's happening."

"You may be afraid of Fabian socialism," Hays retorted, "But I'm afraid of Republican dictatorship."

Fabian socialism calls for gradual spread of socialism. It stems from the doctrine of the Fabian Society, a Socialist group formed in London, England, in 1883. The society held that socialism was a principle already partially embodied in government and capable of further extension by existing political parties.

Fireworks Measure Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — House acceptance of Senate changes sent to the White House today a bill designed to prohibit shipment of fireworks into states where they are banned by law.

Social Security Bill Is Revised By House Group

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee gave item-by-item approval today to a revised social security program which would give higher benefits to millions of more persons and eventually raise their tax payments.

Only routine approval of the measure in its final form, scheduled for Thursday, remains before the bill is sent to the House floor for action probably next week.

Two revisions were voted today as the committee took final action on decisions it had tentatively made earlier. Both reversed previous actions.

They eliminated medical doctors, interns, firemen and policemen from the additional millions of persons to whom social security coverage would be extended.

Dentists, Lawyers To Be Added

A 15-10 vote eliminated an estimated 150,000 physicians and interns, whose inclusion had been opposed by the American Medical Assn. Dentists and veterinarians, along with lawyers, ministers and some others still will be added to the professional group being covered.

An estimated 270,000 municipal policemen and firemen were excluded by a 22-2 vote. They are covered by their own retirement plans, but had tentatively been included on an optional basis.

Coverage will be extended to several million farm owners, to farm workers who receive more than $200 a year from the same employer, to additional state and federal workers, fishermen and others.

Benefits Would Increase

Minimum monthly benefits for an estimated six million persons already on the rolls would be boosted from $25 to $30 a month, and the maximum from $85 to $98.50, effective in two months.

For those retiring in the future, the maximum would be raised to $108.50 for a single worker and to $162.75 for a worker and his wife over 65. The maximum family allotment would be boosted from $168.75 to $200 a month.

Persons now earning more than $3,600 a year would find their social security tax increased, because it would be levied on the first $4,200 of annual salary. That would mean a $12 annual increase in taxes for anyone making more than $4,200.

Train Hits Bus Killing 5

Geneva Talks On Indochina 'Encouraging'

Western Sources Report Progress At Secret Meeting

GENEVA, May 25 (AP)—East and West, for the first time in more than four weeks of wrangling on procedure, today began to talk about concrete steps necessary to end the fighting in Indochina.

Some Western sources reported "some progress" had been made at the day's session, the sixth held in secret. Another diplomat described the meeting as "definitely encouraging."

Much of the optimism apparently could be attributed to the fact that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov did not repeat his demand of yesterday for the discussion of political questions.

The West, willing to discuss political aspects of an Indochina settlement, insists that military questions be settled first.

Conference Resumes Thursday

Pham Van Dong, the Vietminh deputy prime minister and foreign minister, discussed at length the military problems involved. The conference was adjourned until Thursday, when a debate on the question of assembly zones will be held.

These are the areas into which the opposing troops in Viet Nam would be withdrawn pending final settlement of the dispute. Delegates of Laos and Cambodia have expressed opposition to establishment of any such zones there. They insist Vietminh troops on their soil are "invaders" and must be withdrawn forthwith.

One source close to today's negotiations said the discussion of the agenda was interlarded with reversions to the procedural difficulties and no basic progress was made.

Eden Advances Plan

Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden put forward a procedural plan designed to iron out some of the remaining wrinkles but the fate of this plan was not known.

Today's communique said: "At a restricted session on May 25, the nine delegations continued their consideration of the problem of restoring peace in Indochina. The next restricted meeting on this problem will take place on May 27."

There was still the realization in Western circles that many obstacles and pitfalls lie between the Geneva conference and peace in Indochina.

340 Traffic Deaths Seen Over Holiday

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP) — Traffic accidents may kill 340 Americans during the long Memorial Day weekend, the National Safety Council said today.

The council said that, if the weather is good, more than 35 million vehicles will be on the roads.

"On the basis of actual statistics the holiday toll could very easily be higher than 340," stated the council's president, Ned H. Dearborn.

The holiday period covered by the council's estimate will begin at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and end at midnight Monday.

D. C. Educators Postpone Action On Segregation

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The District of Columbia Board of Education pledged itself today to erase racial segregation in public schools in the nation's capital. But it postponed action on a time table for doing so.

Dr. Hobart M. Corning, superintendent of schools, submitted a plan to begin the desegregation process next September, carry it on gradually through the following school year, and complete it by September, 1955-in compliance with last week's Supreme Court decision that separate schools for white and Negro children are unconstitutional.

The school board adjourned without acting on Corning's proposal. But it set another meeting for June 2 to consider the plan.

Capital May Point Way

President Eisenhower has taken a personal interest in the segregation issue in Washington. Aides have said he hopes the capital can put through a successful program that will point the way for 17 southern and border states to establish mixed white and Negro schools.

Corning said that parts of his schedule for Washington "are in advance of any present requirement of the Supreme Court."

What the district school board adopted today, 6 to 2, was a declaration of policy that it is "pledged to a complete and wholehearted pursuit" of these five objectives:

1. No favors or discrimination against any pupil because of race or color.

Ratings On Merit Basis

2. All faculty assignments and ratings shall be on a merit basis, without respect to color or racial lines.

3. No children shall be allowed, for reasons of race alone, to attend schools outside the boundaries of school zones in which they live.

4. After this school year, no records or pupils or personnel shall carry any reference to race or color.

5. All schools shall be used with maximum efficiency regardless of race or color.

Navy Blimp Lands With New World Endurance Records

KEY WEST, Fla., May 25 (AP)—More than eight days after it went aloft on an anti-submarine test mission, a new-type Navy blimp finally landed today with new world endurance records for crew and aircraft.

The 342-foot craft, the world's largest non-rigid airship, settled down at the Boca Chica Naval Air Station at 1:36 p.m. (EST), 200 hours and four minutes after it began the record-making flight from the Lakehurst Naval Air Station in New Jersey.

Without refueling, the blimp cruised 2,660 miles over the Atlantic Seaboard, the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

It shattered the old record of 170.3 hours set in 1947 by an M-type airship out of Lakehurst. Cmdr. Marion H. Eppes of Pinson, Ala., skipper of the craft, said it could have stayed up at least three hours longer before its fuel was exhausted.

"We had the record in the backs of our minds," Eppes said, "but it was incidental. Our purpose was to test the ship."

The blimp a ZPG2, for which no popular name has yet been adopted, is being tested extensively by the Navy.

"It could wait for a submarine to surface it if took all week," said Lt. Albert Robertson, Navy public information officer here, "and there are many other times when continuous flight without refueling could be a great tactical advantage."

Eppes said the crew made the long flight in comparative comfort because of the soundproof sleeping quarters, comfortable mess area, a deep-freeze unit which assured good food, and adequate galley facilities.

"We had to skimp on water," the commander said, "because we started with only 75 gallons, and there are no showers on the ship, so we all need a bath."

Army's Schine Leave Exhibit Called 'Phony'

Pentagon Witnesses Deny Color Contrast Deception Attempt

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), twice accused by the Army of producing doctored exhibits in the past, turned accuser himself today and charged the Army with bringing forth a "dishonest" and "phony" chart.

Three Army witnesses—a general, a colonel and a lieutenant—testified they saw nothing dishonest about the chart, a big black and white checkered affair purportedly showing Pvt. G. David Schine's absence via passes from Ft. Dix, N.J.

But McCarthy contended to the end of a hectic day that the calendar-type chart was deliberately calculated to give the television audience a false impression that Schine had "black marks" against his record.

Like Boxers, Witness Says

One contention of the McCarthy camp was that the same sort of symbolism should have been used in both charts to give the TV audience a fair impression.

In showman like fashion, McCarthy seized a thick black crayon and proceeded to make blacked-out areas, together with a bunch of X's, on the chart of the "typical trainee."

The Wisconsin senator brought down a gale of laughter on himself—and joined in it—at one point when he asked a witness, Lt. John B. Blount, if he didn't agree that this use of "black marks" and "white marks" was intended to fool the public.

"I can give only my personal opinion, sir. In my opinion it's just for comparative purposes—like a prize fight on television. One fighter wears dark trunks and the other fighter wears white trunks."

When the burst of laughter subsided McCarthy, still grinning, told the witness, who comes from Kingston, R. I., and won a Purple Heart in Korea:

"Now I can see why you were selected as an aide to the general."

Murray Takes Responsibility

Ryan himself denied seeing anything "phony" about the charts. He said he supplied the information for them himself, and declared: "I don't think anything put out by the Army is dishonest."

Finally Lt. Col. John F. T. Murray took the stand and, under McCarthy's cross-examination, took responsibility for preparing the charts and said there was no intention to suggest that the black marks on the Schine chart carried any sort of "stigma."

Murray said the chart for the "average trainee" looked whiter because it was a rush job and there wasn't time to fill in squares with black ink, let the ink dry and do white lettering on top of the

U. S. Would Back U. N. Asia Survey

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States would support an appeal to the United Nations to send a peace observation commission to Red - threatened Southeast Asia.

He disclosed this at a news conference as informed diplomats said Thailand was already drafting such an appeal to be submitted to the U.N. Security Council within the next few days.

It was reported that Thailand, with American and French backing, would request a quick survey to determine whether the seven-year Indochina War now threatens world peace.

Dulles was said to be secretly encouraging Thailand to make the request in order to give United Nations sanction to his plan for collective action to block further Red aggression in the area.

In talking to reporters, Dulles did not mention Thailand. But, obviously with this impending development in mind, he said prospects for U.N. action look somewhat better than they had in the past.

Answering a direct question, he said flatly the American government would back any such appeal to the U.N. to dispatch a peace observation mission to Southeast Asia.

Crashing Plane Starts Big Fire At Newark, Del.

NEWARK, Del., May 25 (AP)—A twin engine Air Force C45 training plane crashed in a downtown lumber yard in this Delaware community tonight, exploding on impact and starting a huge fire visible as far away as Wilmington. Both crew members parachuted to safety, Air Force officials said and there were no immediate reports of any civilian casualties.

The plane hit the lumber yard directly across the street from St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church and spread flames to an office building in the lumber yard itself. Firemen laid down a water curtain to prevent the fire reaching three nearby gasoline stations.

Demos Outvoted As Foundations Probe Resumed

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Members of a special House committee, split sharply today over the course of an investigation into tax-exempt foundations.

Over the violent objections of Rep. Hays (D-Ohio), Republican members of the committee voted 3-2 to continue the public testimony of Aaron M. Sargent, a San Francisco lawyer who said some foundations have been fostering Fabian socialism. Sargent did not identify the foundations.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) told the committee "The real threat to the American system of government is not communism but Fabian socialism. And if any of the foundations have been fostering socialism, it is our duty to find out what's happening."

"You may be afraid of Fabian socialism," Hays retorted, "But I'm afraid of Republican dictatorship."

Fabian socialism calls for gradual spread of socialism. It stems from the doctrine of the Fabian Society, a Socialist group formed in London, England, in 1883. The society held that socialism was a principle already partially embodied in government and capable of further extension by existing political parties.

Fireworks Measure Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — House acceptance of Senate changes sent to the White House today a bill designed to prohibit shipment of fireworks into states where they are banned by law.

Social Security Bill Is Revised By House Group

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee gave item-by-item approval today to a revised social security program which would give higher benefits to millions of more persons and eventually raise their tax payments.

Only routine approval of the measure in its final form, scheduled for Thursday, remains before the bill is sent to the House floor for action probably next week.

Two revisions were voted today as the committee took final action on decisions it had tentatively made earlier. Both reversed previous actions.

They eliminated medical doctors, interns, firemen and policemen from the additional millions of persons to whom social security coverage would be extended.

Dentists, Lawyers To Be Added

A 15-10 vote eliminated an estimated 150,000 physicians and interns, whose inclusion had been opposed by the American Medical Assn. Dentists and veterinarians, along with lawyers, ministers and some others still will be added to the professional group being covered.

An estimated 270,000 municipal policemen and firemen were excluded by a 22-2 vote. They are covered by their own retirement plans, but had tentatively been included on an optional basis.

Coverage will be extended to several million farm owners, to farm workers who receive more than $200 a year from the same employer, to additional state and federal workers, fishermen and others.

Benefits Would Increase

Minimum monthly benefits for an estimated six million persons already on the rolls would be boosted from $25 to $30 a month, and the maximum from $85 to $98.50, effective in two months.

For those retiring in the future, the maximum would be raised to $108.50 for a single worker and to $162.75 for a worker and his wife over 65. The maximum family allotment would be boosted from $168.75 to $200 a month.

Persons now earning more than $3,600 a year would find their social security tax increased, because it would be levied on the first $4,200 of annual salary. That would mean a $12 annual increase in taxes for anyone making more than $4,200.

Train Hits Bus Killing 5

GRONINGEN, Netherlands, May 25 (AP)—Five persons were killed and 25 injured today when a bus crammed with guests going to a wedding was hit by an express train. The bus was dragged more than 200 yards and snapped in two.

NYC Unsuccessful In Move To Spike Bob Young's Guns

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad failed today in a two-pronged legal appeal to spike Robert R. Young's guns at tomorrow's stockholders' meeting.

The railroad asked that the forces of Young, financier who seeks control of the Central, be blocked from voting a crucial 800,000 shares of stock at the meeting; or, if decision on this were delayed, that the court postpone the meeting.

Decision was reserved on both matters but presiding Justice David W. Peck of the Appellate Division, New York State Supreme Court, said:

"You can assume we are not going to enjoin the meeting."

Although the court could, technically, act at any time before the meeting gets under way in Albany, N.Y., tomorrow, the last roadblocks seemed to be removed.

The Central management had appealed a lower court ruling which refused to bar proxies for the 800,000 shares to their owners, the Texas millionaires Clint W. Murchison and Sid W. Richardson, who are friends of Young.

Central management has been contesting the validity of the stock sale since shortly after it was made for 20 million dollars in February by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, Young's former railroad.

Meanwhile, frenzied preparations were under way for the meeting Albany's Washington Avenue Armory set for noon EDT (11 a.m. EST) tomorrow.

About 2,500 of Central's 50,000-odd stockholders are expected for the biggest meeting of its kind in Central's history.

Geneva Talks On Indochina 'Encouraging'

Western Sources Report Progress At Secret Meeting

GENEVA, May 25 (AP)—East and West, for the first time in more than four weeks of wrangling on procedure, today began to talk about concrete steps necessary to end the fighting in Indochina.

Some Western sources reported "some progress" had been made at the day's session, the sixth held in secret. Another diplomat described the meeting as "definitely encouraging."

Much of the optimism apparently could be attributed to the fact that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov did not repeat his demand of yesterday for the discussion of political questions.

The West, willing to discuss political aspects of an Indochina settlement, insists that military questions be settled first.

Conference Resumes Thursday

Pham Van Dong, the Vietminh deputy prime minister and foreign minister, discussed at length the military problems involved. The conference was adjourned until Thursday, when a debate on the question of assembly zones will be held.

These are the areas into which the opposing troops in Viet Nam would be withdrawn pending final settlement of the dispute. Delegates of Laos and Cambodia have expressed opposition to establishment of any such zones there. They insist Vietminh troops on their soil are "invaders" and must be withdrawn forthwith.

One source close to today's negotiations said the discussion of the agenda was interlarded with reversions to the procedural difficulties and no basic progress was made.

Eden Advances Plan

Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden put forward a procedural plan designed to iron out some of the remaining wrinkles but the fate of this plan was not known.

Today's communique said: "At a restricted session on May 25, the nine delegations continued their consideration of the problem of restoring peace in Indochina. The next restricted meeting on this problem will take place on May 27."

There was still the realization in Western circles that many obstacles and pitfalls lie between the Geneva conference and peace in Indochina.

340 Traffic Deaths Seen Over Holiday

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP) — Traffic accidents may kill 340 Americans during the long Memorial Day weekend, the National Safety Council said today.

The council said that, if the weather is good, more than 35 million vehicles will be on the roads.

"On the basis of actual statistics the holiday toll could very easily be higher than 340," stated the council's president, Ned H. Dearborn.

The holiday period covered by the council's estimate will begin at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and end at midnight Monday.

D. C. Educators Postpone Action On Segregation

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The District of Columbia Board of Education pledged itself today to erase racial segregation in public schools in the nation's capital. But it postponed action on a time table for doing so.

Dr. Hobart M. Corning, superintendent of schools, submitted a plan to begin the desegregation process next September, carry it on gradually through the following school year, and complete it by September, 1955-in compliance with last week's Supreme Court decision that separate schools for white and Negro children are unconstitutional.

The school board adjourned without acting on Corning's proposal. But it set another meeting for June 2 to consider the plan.

Capital May Point Way

President Eisenhower has taken a personal interest in the segregation issue in Washington. Aides have said he hopes the capital can put through a successful program that will point the way for 17 southern and border states to establish mixed white and Negro schools.

Corning said that parts of his schedule for Washington "are in advance of any present requirement of the Supreme Court."

What the district school board adopted today, 6 to 2, was a declaration of policy that it is "pledged to a complete and wholehearted pursuit" of these five objectives:

1. No favors or discrimination against any pupil because of race or color.

Ratings On Merit Basis

2. All faculty assignments and ratings shall be on a merit basis, without respect to color or racial lines.

3. No children shall be allowed, for reasons of race alone, to attend schools outside the boundaries of school zones in which they live.

4. After this school year, no records or pupils or personnel shall carry any reference to race or color.

5. All schools shall be used with maximum efficiency regardless of race or color.

Navy Blimp Lands With New World Endurance Records

KEY WEST, Fla., May 25 (AP)—More than eight days after it went aloft on an anti-submarine test mission, a new-type Navy blimp finally landed today with new world endurance records for crew and aircraft.

The 342-foot craft, the world's largest non-rigid airship, settled down at the Boca Chica Naval Air Station at 1:36 p.m. (EST), 200 hours and four minutes after it began the record-making flight from the Lakehurst Naval Air Station in New Jersey.

Without refueling, the blimp cruised 2,660 miles over the Atlantic Seaboard, the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

It shattered the old record of 170.3 hours set in 1947 by an M-type airship out of Lakehurst. Cmdr. Marion H. Eppes of Pinson, Ala., skipper of the craft, said it could have stayed up at least three hours longer before its fuel was exhausted.

"We had the record in the backs of our minds," Eppes said, "but it was incidental. Our purpose was to test the ship."

The blimp a ZPG2, for which no popular name has yet been adopted, is being tested extensively by the Navy.

"It could wait for a submarine to surface it if took all week," said Lt. Albert Robertson, Navy public information officer here, "and there are many other times when continuous flight without refueling could be a great tactical advantage."

Eppes said the crew made the long flight in comparative comfort because of the soundproof sleeping quarters, comfortable mess area, a deep-freeze unit which assured good food, and adequate galley facilities.

"We had to skimp on water," the commander said, "because we started with only 75 gallons, and there are no showers on the ship, so we all need a bath."

Army's Schine Leave Exhibit Called 'Phony'

Pentagon Witnesses Deny Color Contrast Deception Attempt

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), twice accused by the Army of producing doctored exhibits in the past, turned accuser himself today and charged the Army with bringing forth a "dishonest" and "phony" chart.

Three Army witnesses—a general, a colonel and a lieutenant—testified they saw nothing dishonest about the chart, a big black and white checkered affair purportedly showing Pvt. G. David Schine's absence via passes from Ft. Dix, N.J.

But McCarthy contended to the end of a hectic day that the calendar-type chart was deliberately calculated to give the television audience a false impression that Schine had "black marks" against his record.

Like Boxers, Witness Says

One contention of the McCarthy camp was that the same sort of symbolism should have been used in both charts to give the TV audience a fair impression.

In showman like fashion, McCarthy seized a thick black crayon and proceeded to make blacked-out areas, together with a bunch of X's, on the chart of the "typical trainee."

The Wisconsin senator brought down a gale of laughter on himself—and joined in it—at one point when he asked a witness, Lt. John B. Blount, if he didn't agree that this use of "black marks" and "white marks" was intended to fool the public.

"I can give only my personal opinion, sir. In my opinion it's just for comparative purposes—like a prize fight on television. One fighter wears dark trunks and the other fighter wears white trunks."

When the burst of laughter subsided McCarthy, still grinning, told the witness, who comes from Kingston, R. I., and won a Purple Heart in Korea:

"Now I can see why you were selected as an aide to the general."

Murray Takes Responsibility

Ryan himself denied seeing anything "phony" about the charts. He said he supplied the information for them himself, and declared: "I don't think anything put out by the Army is dishonest."

Finally Lt. Col. John F. T. Murray took the stand and, under McCarthy's cross-examination, took responsibility for preparing the charts and said there was no intention to suggest that the black marks on the Schine chart carried any sort of "stigma."

Murray said the chart for the "average trainee" looked whiter because it was a rush job and there wasn't time to fill in squares with black ink, let the ink dry and do white lettering on top of the

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States would support an appeal to the United Nations to send a peace observation commission to Red - threatened Southeast Asia.

He disclosed this at a news conference as informed diplomats said Thailand was already drafting such an appeal to be submitted to the U.N. Security Council within the next few days.

It was reported that Thailand, with American and French backing, would request a quick survey to determine whether the seven-year Indochina War now threatens world peace.

Dulles was said to be secretly encouraging Thailand to make the request in order to give United Nations sanction to his plan for collective action to block further Red aggression in the area.

In talking to reporters, Dulles did not mention Thailand. But, obviously with this impending development in mind, he said prospects for U.N. action look somewhat better than they had in the past.

Answering a direct question, he said flatly the American government would back any such appeal to the U.N. to dispatch a peace observation mission to Southeast Asia.

Heroic Nurse Declares She Only "Did My Duty" At Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, May 25 (AP)—Genevieve de Galard Terraube told today the story of her two month ordeal at Dien Bien Phu, and declared "I only did my duty."

Then the French nurse hurried off to Hanoi's best beauty parlor for a badly needed hairdo.

The blue-eyed brunette, 29, spoke calmly but feelingly of her work in caring for the wounded at the fallen fortress.

"It was the most formidable experience of my life," she said. "It opened new horizons to me of courage and devotion to duty while French soldiers and officers were so brilliantly fighting and dying."

To a news conference, she gave an indication of the good humor that had brought her through.

Next week she goes to Paris to visit her mother, Mrs. Roger de Galard Terraube. After that will come time to consider offers of around $100,000 to write her own story of Dien Bien Phu. Her commission as a lieutenant in the French Air Force expires next January.

She was flown into the fortress March 27 to supervise evacuation of wounded. Vietminh forces attacked the air strip the next day and she could not leave.

"I did not see much of the fighting or any of the last deadly assault because always—many times in mud up to my knees—I was working with the wounded," she said.

Her worst experience, as she worked in the underground chambers that served as a hospital, came the nights of March 30 and 31. She related:

"It was then that the Vietminh hurled over thousands of mortars and heavy artillery projectiles and there were hundreds of French wounded and so many dying.

"To me it was so dramatic and tragic, for so many of the wounded had to wait for so many hours in line in the underground bunkers in terrible pain before I could help them."

Miss De Galard was flown here yesterday. She disclosed that the Communist-led Vietminh ordered her release after she had sent 54th birthday greetings to Ho Chi Minh May 19.

Asked why she had written to the Vietminh leader, she replied:

"I have nothing to say. I am afraid that why I wrote him will be misunderstood."

Communist radio broadcasts quoted her letter as saying:

"On the occasion of May 19, I wish to express my thanks to you, Mr. President, for your clemency toward the wounded prisoners of war at Dien Bien Phu whom you kindly want to release. . . .

"We all hope that our two countries may exchange friendly relations as early as possible in a world where war will be banned.

"Should I have the happiness to return to my country, I will endeavor to create among the youth around me an atmosphere of full understanding between our two peoples so as to contribute to the maintenance and establishment of peace, which we all desire."

Ho's reply expressed thanks for the birthday wish. He said that upon demands of the Vietminh's Women's Union he had issued orders "you be released at once."

Six Sentenced For April Fool's Day Bank Holdup

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP)—Prison terms totaling 88 years were handed down today for three men and three women who took part in the $30,000 robbery of a Provident Savings Bank branch office here April Fool's Day.

One other man convicted in the robbery, Charles Edward Harmon, 23, still awaited sentencing. Judge S. Ralph Warnken planned to sentence him after completion of Harmon's separate trial on another armed robbery charge.

Sentenced to 20 years each in the Maryland Penitentiary were William C. Colgan, who was convicted, and John H. Cribley, 26, and Charles A. Wilson, 20, who pleaded guilty. Colgan, identified by police as the "brains" of the holdup, got an added four years for stealing the automobile used as a getaway car.

Three young women received a total of 22 years in the Reformatory for Women for being accessories before and after the robbery and for conspiring in the holdup.

Sentenced to eight years each were Beverly Ann Nestor, 16, Harmon's girl friend, and Mrs. Beverly C. Wilson, 18, wife of one of the bandits. Mrs. Doris Marie Cribley, 20, wife of another of the holdup men, was given six years.

New York's Dockers Vote In Crucial Test

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The boiling, bubbling New York waterfront—largest and rowdiest in the world — chooses anew tomorrow between two bitterly rival unions that covet its 25,000 longshoremen. A previous election came to naught.

Results of the National Labor Relations Board vote probably will not be known before late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

At stake is the 62-year waterfront reign of the old International Longshoremen's Assn., a once-sturdy union enfeebled by internal corruption and now bankrupt and orphaned. It was thrown into receivership today.

The ILA is fighting for life against a new AFL union of the same name, born during a painful labor period after the ILA's ouster from the AFL eight months ago.

Army's Schine

McCarthy wouldn't buy that, said he had assurance the black ink would dry in 10 minutes. He said he was sorry to see Murray "covering up" for the real authors of the charts—something Murray said he wasn't trying to do.

"I don't like to see you taking the rap for this," McCarthy repeated. And he declared that "the millions of television watchers—the real jury in this case—have got intelligence enough" to see an attempt has been made to dupe them.

On that note ended another day of hearings in the Senate inquiry to determine whether (1) McCarthy and aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr sought by "improper means" to get preferred treatment for Schine, a former subcommittee aide, or (2) the Army used Schine in an effort to blackmail the McCarthy subcommittee out of an investigation of alleged Communist infiltration.

There were these other highlights in the testimony, as the Army neared the end of its presentation:

Col., Kenneth E. BeLieu aide to Secretary of the Army Stevens, testified he heard Cohn "blowing his top" because he was refused admittance to a secret radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., last Oct. 21.

BeLieu repeated what Army Counsel John Adams had previously sworn to—that Cohn declared "This is war with the Army." And he quoted the McCarthy counsel as saying, too:

"I don't understand why you let Communists work in here and won't let me in . . . I have access to FBI reports . . . we're going to investigate the heck out of you now."

Toward the end of the hearing another hassle developed. McCarthy demanded to know if any records of Schine's telephone calls from Ft. Dix were going to be introduced as evidence.

Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee special counsel, said he will lay before the committee the records of 253 long distance calls made by Schine during his eight weeks at Ft. Dix. These are not monitored records, but telephone company data about the calls.

McCarthy said there are "certain actions I will have to take" if there is any chance the names of those Schine called were made public. He said these people might well include some who were giving Schine information about communism. And he added, with a grin, the names of some young ladies might be found on that list, too.

Jenkins assured him the whole business of introducing the calls as evidence would take only a minute or two and that "I do not propose to bring out the names."

Haile Selassie Arrives In U.S.

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie, who led Ethiopia in its 1935 war with Italian fascism, arrived in the United States today. But it took 10 years to get him here.

The late President Roosevelt invited him first in 1944 and President Eisenhower renewed the invitation nearly a decade later. No Ethiopian emperor ever had visited this country.

Haile Selassie finally made it today, arriving aboard the liner United States for a 50-day national tour. He stays overnight and goes to Washington tomorrow as a guest of the White House.

Judge's Slayer Doomed By Jury

WARREN, Pa., May 25 (AP)—Convicted slayer Norman Moon spent a nervous day in jail today as his counsel prepared to appeal a jury verdict which condemns the construction worker to death in the electric chair.

A jury of 10 men and two women convicted the 28-year-old man of first degree murder early today in the courtroom slaying of Warren County Judge Allison D. Wade. He was shot to death last Jan. 13.

Moon stood erect and motionless in the same courtroom where the judge was shot down, to hear the jury verdict. Just before stepping up to hear the verdict, Moon's father told him:

"Take it well, whatever it is."

The father, Fred Moon and his wife, had sat through the week-long trial listening to testimony of each witness.

It took the jury of 10 men and two women nine ballots to reach the verdict. They began deliberatint at 7:10 p.m. (EDT) last night. The verdict was reached at 1:35 a.m.

Defense counsel immediately told the court Moon will appeal for a new trial. Trial Judge Alexander J. Flick Jr. deferred sentencing pending written notice of appeal.

Moon shot and killed the 52-year-old judge shortly after he was summoned before the bench for failing to comply with a support order to his estranged wife.

Results of the National Labor Relations Board vote probably will not be known before late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

At stake is the 62-year waterfront reign of the old International Longshoremen's Assn., a once-sturdy union enfeebled by internal corruption and now bankrupt and orphaned. It was thrown into receivership today.

The ILA is fighting for life against a new AFL union of the same name, born during a painful labor period after the ILA's ouster from the AFL eight months ago.

Army's Schine

black, as was done in the previously prepared Schine chart.

McCarthy wouldn't buy that, said he had assurance the black ink would dry in 10 minutes. He said he was sorry to see Murray "covering up" for the real authors of the charts—something Murray said he wasn't trying to do.

"I don't like to see you taking the rap for this," McCarthy repeated. And he declared that "the millions of television watchers—the real jury in this case—have got intelligence enough" to see an attempt has been made to dupe them.

On that note ended another day of hearings in the Senate inquiry to determine whether (1) McCarthy and aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr sought by "improper means" to get preferred treatment for Schine, a former subcommittee aide, or (2) the Army used Schine in an effort to blackmail the McCarthy subcommittee out of an investigation of alleged Communist infiltration.

There were these other highlights in the testimony, as the Army neared the end of its presentation:

Col., Kenneth E. BeLieu aide to Secretary of the Army Stevens, testified he heard Cohn "blowing his top" because he was refused admittance to a secret radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., last Oct. 21.

BeLieu repeated what Army Counsel John Adams had previously sworn to—that Cohn declared "This is war with the Army." And he quoted the McCarthy counsel as saying, too:

"I don't understand why you let Communists work in here and won't let me in . . . I have access to FBI reports . . . we're going to investigate the heck out of you now."

Toward the end of the hearing another hassle developed. McCarthy demanded to know if any records of Schine's telephone calls from Ft. Dix were going to be introduced as evidence.

Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee special counsel, said he will lay before the committee the records of 253 long distance calls made by Schine during his eight weeks at Ft. Dix. These are not monitored records, but telephone company data about the calls.

McCarthy said there are "certain actions I will have to take" if there is any chance the names of those Schine called were made public. He said these people might well include some who were giving Schine information about communism. And he added, with a grin, the names of some young ladies might be found on that list, too.

Jenkins assured him the whole business of introducing the calls as evidence would take only a minute or two and that "I do not propose to bring out the names."

Haile Selassie Arrives In U.S.

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie, who led Ethiopia in its 1935 war with Italian fascism, arrived in the United States today. But it took 10 years to get him here.

The late President Roosevelt invited him first in 1944 and President Eisenhower renewed the invitation nearly a decade later. No Ethiopian emperor ever had visited this country.

Haile Selassie finally made it today, arriving aboard the liner United States for a 50-day national tour. He stays overnight and goes to Washington tomorrow as a guest of the White House.

Judge's Slayer Doomed By Jury

WARREN, Pa., May 25 (AP)—Convicted slayer Norman Moon spent a nervous day in jail today as his counsel prepared to appeal a jury verdict which condemns the construction worker to death in the electric chair.

A jury of 10 men and two women convicted the 28-year-old man of first degree murder early today in the courtroom slaying of Warren County Judge Allison D. Wade. He was shot to death last Jan. 13.

Moon stood erect and motionless in the same courtroom where the judge was shot down, to hear the jury verdict. Just before stepping up to hear the verdict, Moon's father told him:

"Take it well, whatever it is."

The father, Fred Moon and his wife, had sat through the week-long trial listening to testimony of each witness.

It took the jury of 10 men and two women nine ballots to reach the verdict. They began deliberatint at 7:10 p.m. (EDT) last night. The verdict was reached at 1:35 a.m.

Defense counsel immediately told the court Moon will appeal for a new trial. Trial Judge Alexander J. Flick Jr. deferred sentencing pending written notice of appeal.

Moon shot and killed the 52-year-old judge shortly after he was summoned before the bench for failing to comply with a support order to his estranged wife.

U. S., Through Information Agency, Is Letting World Know It Has Gospel As Well As Gadgets

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—New far-reaching steps are being taken today to let the world know the United States has a gospel as well as gadgets.

"It's a big job," said Dr. David Elton Trueblood. "Too often in the past we've been silent about the true character of America."

To philosopher Trueblood has gone a pioneering government assignment of exporting products — not of the country's factories, but of its faiths.

His job, as he sees it: "To tell the truth about us."

To carry this message, the agency has a global network of facilities, including:

A religious press service channeled into 77 countries, religious books in 158 overseas libraries, an output of religious documentary films and the Voice of America, with its religious broadcasts about 8 per cent of the total output.

"We have a great story to tell," Trueblood said, "one that hasn't been told often enough or well enough. We are going to do everything we can to make it known everywhere."

It concerns, he said, "not only the present vitality of our religious live," but the biblical concepts which "in great measure are the roots of our whole democracy."

"It is the most important thing we have to say."

Trueblood, 53, is an energetic, warm-mannered Quaker, and a leading religious scholar. His appointment to the new post has been hailed by major Catholic, Jewish and Protestant spokesmen.

A onetime professor of religious philosophy at Stanford and Harvard universities, the Methodists' Garrett Biblical Institute and Quaker Earlham College, he also is author of several books.

In his view, it is "impossible to tell the truth about America without including religion. To avoid it would be a distortion."

But because this phase has sometimes been neglected, he said, some people abroad have developed notions that the country consists of "ostentatious wealth, sexy movies, gangsters and gunplay."

He said the Communists have exploited this picture.

"They've tried to give the impression, with some success, that we are mere materialists," he said. "In some cases we've aided and abetted this by what we've said or what we've failed to say."

By such failure, he added, "we could lose the struggle for men's minds. Men are not moved by anything but ideas. Emphasis on material things brings only envy — and even worse, hate.

"By silence on the real things, we've risked being looked on as the black sheep of nations. Too few know we are not merely concerned with bathtubs, but are also concerned with moral integrity and prayer."

As indicated by letters from abroad and trips there, Trueblood said, people want to "hear about our steady family life, honest faith and the lay religion of ordinary men and women.

"There is a real hunger in many parts of the world to know this—and be sure it exists."

Trueblood said the truth about America has "especially to do with the dignity of the individual, with equality before the law, with equal opportunity, all of which come fundamentally from the religious basis that inspires so much of our belief and life."

In the program, he said, it is essential that all religious groups are fairly represented, that "we keep a balance of our spiritual federation." Consultants of the different faiths aid in this.

"I've received wonderful cooperation," he said. "In fact this is one of the great stories we have to tell — that all faiths can live side by side without undue struggle for power or prestige.

"This is almost unbelievable in some parts of the world where they're at each other's throats."

Only criticism of Trueblood's appointment has come from the relatively small American Council of Christian Churches, which opposes activities of most major churches. It objects to Trueblood's Quaker views and contends the job violates the principle of church-state separation.

As for the church-state question, Trueblood said the program is not a part of "internal religious life" or churches in America. It cannot interfere, he said, or it would be a violation.

"It's that simple," he added.

The fact Trueblood is a Quaker, a small but highly respected faith in this country, in a way makes him like a Switzerland among nations, a neutral. Some other adherent might have been less removed from the competition.

Besides avoiding any hint of interference in internal religious life, Trueblood sees two other "dangers that must be avoided."

One is proselytizing people of other religions in other countries.

"We want to strengthen what they already have by a sense of comradeship in the spiritual life here," he said. "We're not trying to make them over in the American pattern. That would be terribly out of line. We want to give them an understanding of our practice and of the inspiration to our way of life."

Another delicate point, he said, is to avoid "prostitution of our faith for nationalistic ends."

"Our objective is not to try to build power," he said. "If it has that effect, good, but it must not ever be just for that reason. We must keep the integrity of the message—truth for its own sake."

Government Advises Males On That Well-Dressed Look

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeature Writer

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The government has prepared this slogan for those of its male citizens who like to look well dressed:

"Keep the key zone—the 'V' zone—a neat zone."

Freely translated from such unexpectedly gay government language, this means that a man who wants to look tidy should pay particular attention to his neck and chest area—the area emphasized by the V of his suit coat.

Here's the way the government commentator describes the man with the just-so V zone:

"He is carefully groomed, though not painfully neat. His tie, collar and shirt look smart and fresh. Notice his well-knotted tie, his pocket handkerchief in place. His tie clasp, though not conspicuous, is holding his tie in place."

The home economics experts at the Department of Agriculture have been twittering over women's clothes for years. But not until fairly recently have they paid much heed to men, even though approximately of all money spent on clothing goes to outfit men and boys.

Well, five years ago the department put out a pamphlet entitled, "Buying Men's Suits," It was a winner, with 300,000 copies sold.

So the home economics people decided to go a step further. They approached the National Assn. of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers for help in preparing a series of film strips on men's clothing that could be shown to colleges and high school groups.

Two of these have now been completed, and the retail association had a private screening yesterday.

No question about it, the films show the importance of neat dressing. There's comedy, supplied by the fat boy who insists on buying suits that are too tight, and there's sex. That's supplied by a couple of girls who look sourly at two men who wear the wrong type of hat, and approvingly at them when they switch to more suitable headgear.

"Every girl," the commentator says, "wants her man to be well dressed."

The more entertaining of the two films has the title, "A Man's Appearance Counts."

It stressed the fact that a man may dress neatly without robbing a bank, or he can spend a lot of money on his clothes and still look sloppy.

"Luckily," the commentator says, "it isn't so much what he pays for clothes as the way he puts them together that counts."

In addition to keeping that key V zone a neat zone, the film suggests:

(1) Remember your footwear for the well-groomed look.

(2) Carefully pick and harmonize your clothes without showing you tried too hard.

(3) Build around your suit or jacket-slack outfit, keying in the smaller articles. This adds up to a fine total effect.

And it ends with this pleasant thought:

One character in the film is named Joe. He had a sort of silly smirk on his face. His hair wasn't combed. His tie wasn't neatly knotted. His coat bulged away from his collar. And, merciful heavens, "he has no tie clasp."

"Joe," said the commentator, "is certainly making a bad impression."

He probably is, at that. No great financial success, no flocks of admiring girls for sloppy Joe. Still, you couldn't help but like the guy, though.

Fire Remains Chief Enemy Of Man In Spite Of New Gadgets, Chemicals

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The first man to flee desperately from a blazing forest probably had no trouble reaching this conclusion:

Fire unquestionably was one of his chief enemies.

The National Fire Protection Assn. reecntly held its 58th annual convention here. Its 1,600 delegates—from fire departments, factories and insurance offices—listening to such high powered discussions as "halogenated hydrocarbon extinguishing agents" and "are dikes necessary for safe tank storage of flammable liquids?"

Yet with all this fancy talk, the delegates are aware of the brutal facts: Fire kills more than 12,000 persons in this country each year, injures another 120,000 and causes losses of a billion dollars.

"Still," said Percy Bugbee, general manager of the association, "I think we're at last winning the fight against fire. Proportionately, our losses aren't quite as great. I'd say the turning point came around the end of the war, along about 1945."

The gains, he feels, have been steady if not spectacular.

He keeps this view even though last year there were 293 fires in the United States and Canada where the damage ran to a quarter of a million dollars or more. Included in this list is a fire that set an all-time record for industrial loss: The $55,000,000 fire in the General Motors plant in Livonia, Mich.

The No. 1 producer of all fires in this country—and he rates a special spot on the convention's program—is the smoker and his matches.

In the last year for which complete statistics are available, 1952, he caused 116,000 fires, or more than twice as many as the next villain, shoddy electrical equipment.

Bugbee said the attempt to get the smoker to be more careful is fairly recent, but that he is hopeful of the results.

Ava Arrives In London

LONDON, May 25 (AP) — Actress Ava Gardner arrived by plane tonight from Madrid en route to New York with announced plans to finalize divorce proceedings against singer Frank Sinatra quickly.

Roadside Drinking In Washington Co. Apparently Heavy

HAGERSTOWN, May 25 (AP)—Eugene Geary, roads supervisor, has concluded there is a lot of roadside drinking going on in Washington County.

For months county commissioners have been getting complaints about litter along the highways, particularly discarded beer bottles, cans and whiskey bottles.

The commissioners authorized the Roads Department to use its 15 trucks and the 17-member "weed gang" made up of prisoners in the county jail for a cleanup.

Geary reported later the gangs covered 25 miles of highway and picked up 27 truck loads of debris, mostly cast off beer and whiskey bottles.

"It was a lot worse than I expected," Geary said.

He decided to use the cleanup gangs a half day every Friday in an effort to keep the roadsides clean.

Navy Plans Assault Helicopter Transport

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Navy has announced plans to convert an aircraft carrier into its first "assault helicopter transport."

Rear Adm. Bernard E. Manseau, acting chief of the Bureau of Ships, told the Senate Armed Services Appropriations subcommittee the vessel would be able to launch a Marine combat unit for assault operations. The committee is working on the Navy's part of the defense money bill for next fiscal year.

The Marines last summer announced that they had developed the capability, through the use of helicopters, to leapfrog an enemy shore defense line in an amphibious operation.

This technique could help eliminate the need, in a future war, of costly beach assaults such as Tarawa, Iwo Jima and other World War II beachheads.

Approximately 75,000 Americans now alive will become blind before they die.

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeature Writer

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The government has prepared this slogan for those of its male citizens who like to look well dressed:

"Keep the key zone—the 'V' zone—a neat zone."

Freely translated from such unexpectedly gay government language, this means that a man who wants to look tidy should pay particular attention to his neck and chest area—the area emphasized by the V of his suit coat.

Here's the way the government commentator describes the man with the just-so V zone:

"He is carefully groomed, though not painfully neat. His tie, collar and shirt look smart and fresh. Notice his well-knotted tie, his pocket handkerchief in place. His tie clasp, though not conspicuous, is holding his tie in place."

The home economics experts at the Department of Agriculture have been twittering over women's clothes for years. But not until fairly recently have they paid much heed to men, even though approximately of all money spent on clothing goes to outfit men and boys.

Well, five years ago the department put out a pamphlet entitled, "Buying Men's Suits." It was a winner, with 300,000 copies sold.

So the home economics people decided to go a step further. They approached the National Assn. of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers for help in preparing a series of film strips on men's clothing that could be shown to colleges and high school groups.

Two of these have now been completed, and the retail association had a private screening yesterday.

No question about it, the films show the importance of neat dressing. There's comedy, supplied by the fat boy who insists on buying suits that are too tight, and there's sex. That's supplied by a couple of girls who look sourly at two men who wear the wrong type of hat, and approvingly at them when they switch to more suitable headgear.

"Every girl," the commentator says, "wants her man to be well dressed."

The more entertaining of the two films has the title, "A Man's Appearance Counts."

It stressed the fact that a man may dress neatly without robbing a bank, or he can spend a lot of money on his clothes and still look sloppy.

"Luckily," the commentator says, "it isn't so much what he pays for clothes as the way he puts them together that counts."

In addition to keeping that key V zone a neat zone, the film suggests:

(1) Remember your footwear for the well-groomed look.

(2) Carefully pick and harmonize your clothes without showing you tried too hard.

(3) Build around your suit or jacket-slack outfit, keying in the smaller articles. This adds up to a fine total effect.

And it ends with this pleasant thought:

One character in the film is named Joe. He had a sort of silly smirk on his face. His hair wasn't combed. His tie wasn't neatly knotted. His coat bulged away from his collar. And, merciful heavens, "he has no tie clasp."

"Joe," said the commentator, "is certainly making a bad impression."

He probably is, at that. No great financial success, no flocks of admiring girls for sloppy Joe. Still, you couldn't help but like the guy, though.

Roadside Drinking In Washington Co. Apparently Heavy

HAGERSTOWN, May 25 (AP)—Eugene Geary, roads supervisor, has concluded there is a lot of roadside drinking going on in Washington County.

For months county commissioners have been getting complaints about litter along the highways, particularly discarded beer bottles, cans and whiskey bottles.

The commissioners authorized the Roads Department to use its 15 trucks and the 17-member "weed gang" made up of prisoners in the county jail for a cleanup.

Geary reported later the gangs covered 25 miles of highway and picked up 27 truck loads of debris, mostly cast off beer and whiskey bottles.

"It was a lot worse than I expected," Geary said.

He decided to use the cleanup gangs a half day every Friday in an effort to keep the roadsides clean.

Navy Plans Assault Helicopter Transport

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Navy has announced plans to convert an aircraft carrier into its first "assault helicopter transport."

Rear Adm. Bernard E. Manseau, acting chief of the Bureau of Ships, told the Senate Armed Services Appropriations subcommittee the vessel would be able to launch a Marine combat unit for assault operations. The committee is working on the Navy's part of the defense money bill for next fiscal year.

The Marines last summer announced that they had developed the capability, through the use of helicopters, to leapfrog an enemy shore defense line in an amphibious operation.

This technique could help eliminate the need, in a future war, of costly beach assaults such as Tarawa, Iwo Jima and other World War II beachheads.

Approximately 75,000 Americans now alive will become blind before they die.

Fire Remains Chief Enemy Of Man In Spite Of New Gadgets, Chemicals

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The first man to flee desperately from a blazing forest probably had no trouble reaching this conclusion:

Fire unquestionably was one of his chief enemies.

The National Fire Protection Assn. reecntly held its 58th annual convention here. Its 1,600 delegates—from fire departments, factories and insurance offices—listening to such high powered discussions as "halogenated hydrocarbon extinguishing agents" and "are dikes necessary for safe tank storage of flammable liquids?"

Yet with all this fancy talk, the delegates are aware of the brutal facts: Fire kills more than 12,000 persons in this country each year, injures another 120,000 and causes losses of a billion dollars.

"Still," said Percy Bugbee, general manager of the association, "I think we're at last winning the fight against fire. Proportionately, our losses aren't quite as great. I'd say the turning point came around the end of the war, along about 1945."

The gains, he feels, have been steady if not spectacular.

He keeps this view even though last year there were 293 fires in the United States and Canada where the damage ran to a quarter of a million dollars or more. Included in this list is a fire that set an all-time record for industrial loss: The $55,000,000 fire in the General Motors plant in Livonia, Mich.

The No. 1 producer of all fires in this country—and he rates a special spot on the convention's program—is the smoker and his matches.

In the last year for which complete statistics are available, 1952, he caused 116,000 fires, or more than twice as many as the next villain, shoddy electrical equipment.

Bugbee said the attempt to get the smoker to be more careful is fairly recent, but that he is hopeful of the results.

Filter Bids To Be Opened On June 15

Bids for modernization of 12 filters at the Lake Gordon water plant will be opened here Tuesday, June 15, at 10 a. m., Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday.

Eves said he has called a special meeting of the Mayor and Council that day—also general election day. Bids are due by 9:30 a. m.

Originally it had been planned to open bids on June 1 but because of the magnitude of the work involved, it was decided to give contractors more time to figure cost.

The meeting was also set for Tuesday instead of the regular Monday meeting time because contractors have to get last-minute quotations for suppliers and subcontractors. Monday, marketwise, is a bad day because of the weekend holiday, according to City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum.

So far, Nuzum said, eight contractors have requested specifications for the filter work which, it is estimated, will cost $220,000.

Sewing Machine Operators Sought Here

A survey to determine the number of unemployed sewing machine operators available in the Cumberland area is being conducted by the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and the Maryland Department of Employment Security, according to Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the Industrial Promotion Department.

The purpose of the survey is to provide information to a prospective manufacturer who is investigating Cumberland as a new location for the manufacture of ladies' blouses.

A representative of the company will take whatever information is furnished him and plan interviews if sufficient numbers of experienced applicants are available.

Applications can be made by mail to the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce by filling out the advertisement on page 2 of today's Cumberland News or applying in person with the coupon at the Maryland Department of Employment Security, Footer Building, Cumberland, Maryland.

Scouts Prepare For Camp Trip

Three groups of Boy Scouts were at Camp Potomac, the camp of Potomac Council near Oldtown, preparing it for the summer season, Willis V. Smith, council executive, announced yesterday.

The five weeks of camp will get under way July 11 and continue until August 15.

Smith said 85 per cent of the troops in the six districts of the council will be represented, with 100 per cent representation from all troops in some districts.

From the reservations already made, the goal of having 500 scouts at camp at one time or another during the five weeks will be realized.

The camp has facilities to handle 120 boys plus the staff during any one week, Smith observed.

Over the weekend a group of Scouts from Mountain District in Frostburg were at the camp working on the archery range under the supervision of the district chairman, Kenneth Crowe of Frostburg, and Kenneth Babcock. The latter, athletic director at Frostburg State Teachers College, has been in charge of the archery range at Camp Potomac for three years.

Explorers from Troop 9, Cresaptown, under the direction of Lewis Shepherd, scoutmaster, spent the weekend getting the rifle range in shape. This is a project at the camp that is being undertaken by Cumberland District.

Explorers from Troop 4, Center Street Methodist Church, were at the camp scrubbing down the dining hall and its equipment and also assisting on the rifle range. Their leader was Hugh Erskine.

On the weekend of June 5, Explorers and leaders from Tri-Towns District will get the waterfront in shape, painting canoes and the dock.

Names Are Submitted For Welfare Board

Seven persons have been recommended by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to the State Department of Public Welfare as candidates for two vacancies on the County Welfare Board.

They are J. William Hunt, Lynn C. Lashley, Julius E. Schindler, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, Mrs. Roberta Phelps, of Luke; Mrs. Holmes Cessna, and Rev. John Bailey Jones, of Frostburg.

The state board will send back the names of four of the seven from which the county will select two persons to serve on the board here.

Trenton Heads Concert Band

Officers of the Cumberland Concert Band, organized February 3 under the direction of Dr. W. E. Capaldi, have been elected, according to W. Valgene Routch, director.

Joseph K. Trenton was elected president; James E. Andrews, vice president; Roy Knotts, secretary; Arthur Shafer, treasurer; John Jackle, librarian; W. Elwood O'Hara Jr., assistant librarian, Frank Munson, assistant director, and Dr. Capaldi, Fred P. Keyser and Jack Means, board of governors.

The first outdoor concert by the unit Sunday evening in Constitution Park met with public acclaim and resulted in the Mayor and Council voting $720 to continue the Sunday evening concerts at the park through the fiscal year, ending July 31. The attendance was estimated at 1,700 persons.

Favors Removal Of Court House Steeple

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has under study a plan to remove the steeple from the tower at the Court House due to its unsafe condition.

A survey has been made on the condition of the tower by the Corinthian Engineering Service and a report submitted to the commissioners. It shows that the steeple's wooden members have become rotted and are unsafe in times of high winds.

It was pointed out that the architectural beauty of the Court House would not be affected in any way by the proposed removal of the steeple. Under the plan, the tower would remain with a flat roof, with parapet walls and stone coping.

The slate on the steeple has become loose due to the deterioration of the nails holding them in place and the sand mortar in the bricks of the tower is not adhesive enough for safety. The wooden stairway to the tower is also rotted and unsafe.

Steeple removal would cost only about one-fourth as much as its repair, according to the report.

The commissioners also received a letter from nine Shaft boys thanking them for grading the baseball field in that community. Signing the letter were Aaron Winters, Ray Kammauf, Thomas Alexander, Albert, Samuel and Riger James, William and George Howsare and Lynn Chapman.

Live wire that really looks it

Even standing still this glamor car looks alive.

And that look-of-tomorrow styling that's part and parcel of every new Buick – that sweeping panoramic windshield with the dream-car slant – all that says there's action here, and plenty of it.

But just note the name "CENTURY" emblazoned on its rear fender, and you can take it as gospel that this is a performance car of the very first water.

It's the livest of the live wires – the highest-voltage Buick in the line.

It is instant on getaway, a joy in cruising, a breeze on hills – and a honey of a friend in the added safety of its plenty reserve power always on hand for sudden needs.

It is, in fact, a 200-horsepower performance car, and priced far below it – the highest-powered car at its price in the land.

With this great-powered good-looker setting the pace – and with equally impressive SPECIALS, SUPERS and ROADMASTERS adding to the excitement – is it any wonder Buick today is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three"?

Come in and try one of these gorgeous new Buicks. With the prices we're quoting, you can make the buy of the year this very week.

Escapee Is Held For Grand Jury

A "fugitive from justice" charge was filed yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court against Bobby Porter, of Corriganville, who escaped April 22 from the State Police barracks in LaVale while working as a "trusty" during a 90-day jail term.

Porter was recaptured May 17 at Corriganville by Trooper Charles H. DeWitt.

Early in January, the prisoner drew a suspended six-month sentence to the House of Correction for assaulting his wife. Last month a similar charge was preferred and he was given the jail term.

Several weeks later, he was made a "trusty" and sent to the LaVale sub-station to mow grass. He worked at the task a short time and then walked off.

Authorities said he hid in West Virginia.

Resolution Copy Sent To Firm

Mayor Roy W. Eves has sent an authenticated copy of a city resolution to the president of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in which Cumberland promises to begin construction of a sewage treatment facility upon assurance the firm will locate a plant at Mexico Farms.

The resolution was approved by the Mayor and Council several weeks ago and also contained a request that the State Board of Health postpone a Circuit Court hearing on its order that the city construct a plant.

The Board of Health has agreed to go along with the city's proposal.

In a letter accompanying the resolution which carries the city seal, Mayor Eves told the Pittsburgh Plate president, "the city council will do everything in its power to facilitate your plans for construction of your plant at Mexico Farms."

While the plant management has given no definite answer about locating here, property has been purchased at Mexico Farms. In conferences with city officials, firm representatives said a treatment facility would be necessary because impurities in the Potomac River are over the maximum allowed in the industry's manufacturing processes.

Escapee Is Held For Grand Jury

A "fugitive from justice" charge was filed yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court against Bobby Porter, of Corriganville, who escaped April 22 from the State Police barracks in LaVale while working as a "trusty" during a 90-day jail term.

Porter was recaptured May 17 at Corriganville by Trooper Charles H. DeWitt.

Early in January, the prisoner drew a suspended six-month sentence to the House of Correction for assaulting his wife. Last month a similar charge was preferred and he was given the jail term.

Several weeks later, he was made a "trusty" and sent to the LaVale sub-station to mow grass. He worked at the task a short time and then walked off.

Authorities said he hid in West Virginia.

Resolution Copy Sent To Firm

Mayor Roy W. Eves has sent an authenticated copy of a city resolution to the president of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in which Cumberland promises to begin construction of a sewage treatment facility upon assurance the firm will locate a plant at Mexico Farms.

The resolution was approved by the Mayor and Council several weeks ago and also contained a request that the State Board of Health postpone a Circuit Court hearing on its order that the city construct a plant.

The Board of Health has agreed to go along with the city's proposal.

In a letter accompanying the resolution which carries the city seal, Mayor Eves told the Pittsburgh Plate president, "the city council will do everything in its power to facilitate your plans for construction of your plant at Mexico Farms."

While the plant management has given no definite answer about locating here, property has been purchased at Mexico Farms. In conferences with city officials, firm representatives said a treatment facility would be necessary because impurities in the Potomac River are over the maximum allowed in the industry's manufacturing processes.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Our rules of etiquette, less formal than in years past, are guided by graciousness. The nice thing to do is invariably the right thing to do. This is equally true in areas where no protocol exists, such as in the giving of wedding presents.

A present is not obligatory for each guest who accepts an invitation to wedding or reception. Dear friends and members of the family send gifts, others need not—unless they wish to do so. Let feeling and friendship for the bride and groom or their families be your basis for giving.

When in a quandary about an appropriate remembrance, find out if a particular shop has a listing of the bride's pattern in china, silver and crystal. Such items are always appropriate, and the shop's record will suggest your specific choice.

Selection Unlimited

As a friend of the family, or of the bride-to-be, there is no reason on earth why you shouldn't inquire as to her likes and her needs for her new household. Face the fact that tastes vary, that exchanging a present is sometimes necessary but always distasteful, that the most appreciated present is one both useful and attractive to the recipient.

If circumstances don't allow a checkup by either of the above procedures, you may be sure that any bride will welcome such individual and decorative items as a crystal decanter, a distinctive ebony tray, a handsome cigarette lighter, demitasse service, a copper chafing dish, a tall wooden pepper grinder, a cutlery set. Really, one should never lack for ideas at any price, with the gift shops so full of beautiful and imaginative things.

I will never forget a conversation overheard in a shop where two women were browsing among limitless fun and functional table accessories. Said one, pointing to a covered pottery dish of indescribable shape: "That's interesting . . . . what is it?" Her companion's reply: "I haven't the vaguest idea, but why don't I send it to so-and-so? I should give her a wedding present."

Can't you just imagine Miss So-and-So's reaction upon opening the package containing the whatzit? It should never, never be!

A General Rule

Your remembrance may be for daily use, or for the special occasion — perhaps when the bride entertains. It should carry your personal touch, convey your sincere good wishes, be both functional and fanciful — never one or the other alone.

GLASSES THAT ADORN

Wear your glasses as a smart accessory. Choose rims that are the most interesting shape for your face. This special leaflet is yours for the asking. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Tomorrow — Hair styles that become you.

U. S.-Canadian Group To Explore Mysterious Crater On Labrador

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—A U.S.-Canadian expedition is getting ready to set out for northern Labrador to explore and map a mysterious, perfectly round crater with a brilliant apple-green lake in its center.

The crater, situated in some of the world's roughest country, is of keen interest to geologists. They want particularly to find out if it is of meteoric origin, and to study the effects of the great ice sheet believed to have covered the area up to 3,000 years ago.

Sponsoring the expedition are the National Geographic Society and Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy, aided by the U.S. Air Force. Dr. Victor Ben Meen, director of the museum, will head the eight-man group, which will include a member of the Canadian Atomic Energy Commission.

With three tons of scientific and cold weather equipment, the group will fly to the crater site, some 410 miles west of Hebron Mission, in mid-July. There will be only a month of relatively icefree "summer" weather to complete the research. Meen made a limited exploration of the crater area last year.

The Labrador crater is 175 yards across. Geologists speculate it may have been gouged out of the earth's primeval rock at the same time as the vast Chubb Crater in a remote region of Quebec. Chubb Crater is two miles across and is the largest ever found on earth, comparable in size to some craters on the moon.

Meen said the new expedition will look for, among other things, any signs of ancient or modern habitation.

Ike Golfs In Maryland

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower went to Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland today for a round of golf.

Speedy Camera Takes 15 Million Pictures Second

LOS ALAMOS, N.M., May 25 (AP)—The camera which "stops" an atom bomb explosion has been speeded up to take pictures at the rate of 15 million per second. It used to take only 3.5 million.

This remarkable new instrument was described today by the University of California's Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, in which it was developed. It is believed to be by far the world's fastest camera.

The original camera, known as Model 6, was turned out by Berlyn Brixner of the Los Alamos Laboratory and publicly described in 1952. The new one, Model 8, was produced by Brixner and his staff.

Around the inside of the chamber's rim is placed ordinary movie film. At the axis of the chamber, corresponding to the wedge point of the piece of cake, is a three-sided hunk of very special steel mounted on a shaft so it can be revolved at high speed. Each of the three flat sides of the steel piece are polished to the finest mirror finish. At a single revolution of the piece, each mirror face reflects a segment of the light beam onto the stretch of film. A row of little glass lenses between the mirror and the film break up the beam into sections or frames.

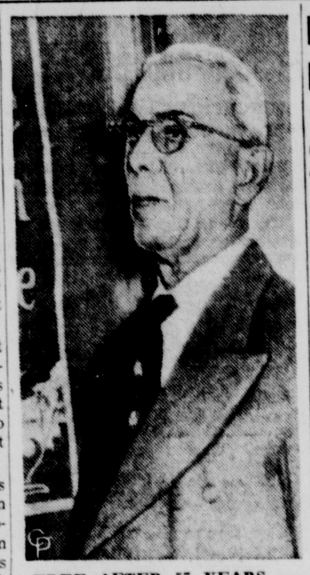
A tube to channel light from the bomb flash to the mirror system extends outside the camera. It is no trick to open the shutter an instant before the blast but closing it is a big problem, because the entire strip of film will be exposed in only a hundred and fifty thousandth (1-150,000) part of a second.

If the light beam were not shut off after this intefval the spinning mirror would repeatedly expose the film because no mechanical setup is fast enough to cut off the light beam in time.

To get around this Bixler rigged a little glass block in the path of the light beam which can be blown up by an explosive charge just at the right time. The glass block admits the light beam for just the right interval, then goes to pieces and breaks it up so it won't harm the exposed film. Then, in less than a thousandth of a second, a mechanical shutter closes and the film is saved.

The new high speed is due mainly to changes in the revolving mirror. In the original camera this was only a two-sided mirror, giving only two beam flashes to the film for each revolution. It spun at 10,000 revolutions per second.

With extra-strong steel, the three sided mirror can be turned at 23,000 revolutions per second and for each turn it gives three flashes to the film instead of two.



FREE AFTER 57 YEARS — Lyman W. Hall, 81, who went to prison in 1897, arrives in Chicago after serving more than 57 years for the murder of a Joliet constable. Looking around at life today, Hall declared he was amazed at the "changes" in women and was astounded to see thousands of automobiles in places he remembered "as country towns."

Vodka Sales Curbed

MOSCOW, May 25 (AP)—The Soviet Ministry of Trade published an official order today closing vodka quick-drink spots in Soviet cities.

This decree prohibited sales of alcoholic liquors by the glass in open street stands, stalls and buffets and also in bars and stands located near factories, schools, childrens' institutions, hospitals and clubs.

There had been strong press criticism of young workers, students, sport fans and others who got drunk at these stands.

Legless, Armless Boy Is Learning To Walk

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 25 (AP)—Two-year-old Lonnie Williams of Lexington, Tenn., born without arms or legs, today was reported by nurses as walking "amazingly well" on his two artificial legs.

In another two months he is expected to begin learning to use artificial arms.

Lonnie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Williams, was brought to the juvenile amputee training center at Mary Free Bed Children's Hospital and Orthopedic Center in Grand Rapids to be fitted with artificial limbs.

Lexington Rotarians, the Memphis Press Scimitar and other area newspapers launched a fund in his behalf in April which has grown to $6,000.

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP) — Five 29th Division officers who were in the D-Day assault on the beaches of Normandy are scheduled to fly to France next month to have a part in ceremonies marking the invasion's 10th anniversary.

The party is composed of Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, Baltimore, assistant division commander; Col. Archibald A. Sproul, Staunton, Va.; Lt. Col. Thomas F. Cadwalader Jr., Baltimore; Lt. Col. Victor P. Gillespie, Sudlersville, Md., and Maj. Clarence W. White, Baltimore.

Gen. Purnell said today the five will fly from Washington, D. C., to Paris June 1. From Paris they will proceed to Normandy for the ceremonies June 5 and 6.

Let friendship and common sense dictate your choice of presents for the bride-to-be.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Our rules of etiquette, less formal than in years past, are guided by graciousness. The nice thing to do is invariably the right thing to do. This is equally true in areas where no protocol exists, such as in the giving of wedding presents.

A present is not obligatory for each guest who accepts an invitation to wedding or reception. Dear friends and members of the family send gifts, others need not—unless they wish to do so. Let feeling and friendship for the bride and groom or their families be your basis for giving.

When in a quandary about an appropriate remembrance, find out if a particular shop has a listing of the bride's pattern in china, silver and crystal. Such items are always appropriate, and the shop's record will suggest your specific choice.

Selection Unlimited

As a friend of the family, or of the bride-to-be, there is no reason on earth why you shouldn't inquire as to her likes and her needs for her new household. Face the fact that tastes vary, that exchanging a present is sometimes necessary but always distasteful, that the most appreciated present is one both useful and attractive to the recipient.

If circumstances don't allow a checkup by either of the above procedures, you may be sure that any bride will welcome such individual and decorative items as a crystal decanter, a distinctive ebony tray, a handsome cigarette lighter, demitasse service, a copper chafing dish, a tall wooden pepper grinder, a cutlery set. Really, one should never lack for ideas at any price, with the gift shops so full of beautiful and imaginative things.

I will never forget a conversation overheard in a shop where two women were browsing among limitless fun and functional table accessories. Said one, pointing to a covered pottery dish of indescribable shape: "That's interesting . . . . what is it?" Her companion's reply: "I haven't the vaguest idea, but why don't I send it to so-and-so? I should give her a wedding present."

Can't you just imagine Miss So-and-So's reaction upon opening the package containing the whatzit? It should never, never be!

A General Rule

Your remembrance may be for daily use, or for the special occasion — perhaps when the bride entertains. It should carry your personal touch, convey your sincere good wishes, be both functional and fanciful — never one or the other alone.

GLASSES THAT ADORN

Wear your glasses as a smart accessory. Choose rims that are the most interesting shape for your face. This special leaflet is yours for the asking. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Tomorrow — Hair styles that become you.

GOP Rival Challenges Frederick's Mayor On Disclosure Of Extra Pay

FREDERICK, May 25 (AP) — John A. Derr, Republican candidate for mayor in Frederick's city elections June 8, said today he was shocked that Mayor Donald B. Rice has been getting extra pay for the job.

Rice, a Democrat, is running for re-election.

Derr referred to a disclosure yesterday that the Frederick board of aldermen, on Dec. 27, 1952, authorized extra payments which brought Rice's compensation up to $5,000 a year.

The mayor's salary is set at $3,000 a year by a local law enacted by the Maryland General Assembly. The Legislature in 1953 increased the pay to $6,000 a year but that does not go into effect until July.

The mayor and aldermen also disclosed yesterday $1,200 a year in extra pay had been authorized earlier for City Register Aubrey A. Nicodemus, a Republican.

A statement issued by the administration Monday said in both instances this was done because the mayor and register had been loaded with additional work which "was not and could not have been anticipated" by the Legislature the last time it revised municipal salary brackets for Frederick.

Derr declared today Mayor Rice owes the voters an explanation of the extra pay. He said he felt obligated to disclose the facts about it if the mayor does not give a satisfactory explanation.

The mayor said the action increasing his pay came as a surprise to him when the aldermen approved it.

He referred questions about legality to Jerome Offutt, city solicitor. Offutt said the precedent was set by his predecessor as solicitor, E. Austin James, in connection with the increased pay for Nicodemus.

Byrd Against Taft-Hartley

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP)—Dr. H. C. Byrd sent the Maryland-District of Columbia Federation of Labor convention into an uproar of approval today by declaring he is against the Taft-Hartley law and against "any 'right-to-work' law."

The former University of Maryland president seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, drew hearty endorsement from the 200 delegates in the convention hall for their annual meeting.

Moments earlier he had been introduced by Harry Cohen, president of the federation, as "the next governor of the State of Maryland."

Although the federation had not formally endorsed either Byrd or his opponent, George P. Mahoney, in the Democratic primary, its political education league came out in favor of Byrd several days ago. The federation claims a membership of more than 200,000.

Montgomery Co. Manager Resigns

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 25 (AP)—E. T. Beall, under indictment in Scioto County, Ohio, on charges of embezzlement of hospital funds in Portsmouth, resigned as Montgomery County, Md., manager today.

Beall in submitting his resignation told the County Council he is innocent of the Ohio charges, based upon a $738 shortage in funds of the Portsmouth City Hospital while he was city manager.

He has been on leave from his $12,500-a-year county manager post without pay since charges first named him in Portsmouth. He said he would continue to live in Montgomery County.

Witness In Hicks Case Is Released

LA PLATA, Md., May 25 (AP)—An "important witness" in the Louis A. Hicks case was released after taking a lie detector test, State's Attorney Robert T. Barbour said today.

The unidentified witness was the same person, who was questioned for more than three hours early Sunday morning about the case, Barbour told newsmen.

Hicks, a 34-year-old paralyzed war veteran, was found dead in the wreckage of the specially-equipped car last March 28. Authorities first listed the death as accidental, but since then police say they are investigating the case from "a homicide angle."

Earlier, the state's attorney said that during the last 24 hours state police and sheriff's deputies had questioned six persons not previously contacted in their investigation.

Concerning the lie detector test, Barbour's statement said only:

"An important witness was questioned tonight (Monday) and was released after taking a lie detector test at an undisclosed place." He did not elaborate.

Hicks was paralyzed from the waist down from a war injury suffered in the Battle of the Bulge. His body was found in his car after it crashed into his home near Port Tobacco.

The investigation into his death was reopened after authorities learned that the throttle of his special car had been taped open.

Chemical Plant, Warehouse Burn

PITTSBURGH, May 25 (AP) — A $100,000 fire destroyed a three-story brick chemical plant and warehouse today in a heavily populated residential area in Pittsburgh's Bluff district. No one was injured.

Police ordered more than 50 families from their homes on Vickroy Street as fear mounted that the searing flames would touch off a disasterous explosion. Several small blasts were heard inside.

Police Supt. James Slusser said about 500 gallons of nitro cellulose —a highly inflamable chemical— was stored in the building. The fire scene was two blocks from Duquesne University.

Fire Chief Steven Adley, who estimated the damage, said cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Two Bodies Sought In Shenandoah River

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Volunteer rescue parties and navy divers today continued the search for the bodies of two men believed to have drowned in the Shenandoah River.

The men, Guy R. Sine, 45, of Winchester, and John D. Wiseman, 29, air controlman 1-c, Patuxent River, Md., Naval Air Station, apparently drowned when their small fishing boat sank 15 miles east of here.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving And Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment of saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Cumberland, Md., Thursday ONLY, May 27, 1954. These private individual demonstrations will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel on Thursday ONLY, May 27, 12 Noon to 9 p. m.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 20—In an interview here today Wm. L. Keele, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Keele Hair and Scalp Specialists Inc. said, "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Keele firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee," Keele said.

Once a person avails himself to the Keele treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days, your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Keele specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless the Keele firm can perform wonders.

Everyone is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical, it requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Keele firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Keele firm is sending specialists to various cities to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Keele emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Keele wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Keele said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment, it all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist L. J. Bryan at the Fort Cumberland Hotel in Cumberland, Md. on Thursday ONLY, May 27, 12 Noon to 9 P. M. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.—Adv.

U. S.-Canadian Group To Explore Mysterious Crater On Labrador

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—A U.S.-Canadian expedition is getting ready to set out for northern Labrador to explore and map a mysterious, perfectly round crater with a brilliant apple-green lake in its center.

The crater, situated in some of the world's roughest country, is of keen interest to geologists. They want particularly to find out if it is of meteoric origin, and to study the effects of the great ice sheet believed to have covered the area up to 3,000 years ago.

Sponsoring the expedition are the National Geographic Society and Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy, aided by the U.S. Air Force. Dr. Victor Ben Meen, director of the museum, will head the eight-man group, which will include a member of the Canadian Atomic Energy Commission.

With three tons of scientific and cold weather equipment, the group will fly to the crater site, some 410 miles west of Hebron Mission, in mid-July. There will be only a month of relatively icefree "summer" weather to complete the research. Meen made a limited exploration of the crater area last year.

The Labrador crater is 175 yards across. Geologists speculate it may have been gouged out of the earth's primeval rock at the same time as the vast Chubb Crater in a remote region of Quebec. Chubb Crater is two miles across and is the largest ever found on earth, comparable in size to some craters on the moon.

Meen said the new expedition will look for, among other things, any signs of ancient or modern habitation.

Ike Golfs In Maryland

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower went to Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland today for a round of golf.

Speedy Camera Takes 15 Million Pictures Second

LOS ALAMOS, N.M., May 25 (AP)—The camera which "stops" an atom bomb explosion has been speeded up to take pictures at the rate of 15 million per second. It used to take only 3.5 million.

This remarkable new instrument was described today by the University of California's Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, in which it was developed. It is believed to be by far the world's fastest camera.

The original camera, known as Model 6, was turned out by Berlyn Brixner of the Los Alamos Laboratory and publicly described in 1952. The new one, Model 8, was produced by Brixner and his staff.

Around the inside of the chamber's rim is placed ordinary movie film. At the axis of the chamber, corresponding to the wedge point of the piece of cake, is a three-sided hunk of very special steel mounted on a shaft so it can be revolved at high speed. Each of the three flat sides of the steel piece are polished to the finest mirror finish. At a single revolution of the piece, each mirror face reflects a segment of the light beam onto the stretch of film. A row of little glass lenses between the mirror and the film break up the beam into sections or frames.

A tube to channel light from the bomb flash to the mirror system extends outside the camera. It is no trick to open the shutter an instant before the blast but closing it is a big problem, because the entire strip of film will be exposed in only a hundred and fifty thousandth (1-150,000) part of a second.

If the light beam were not shut off after this intefval the spinning mirror would repeatedly expose the film because no mechanical setup is fast enough to cut off the light beam in time.

To get around this Bixler rigged a little glass block in the path of the light beam which can be blown up by an explosive charge just at the right time. The glass block admits the light beam for just the right interval, then goes to pieces and breaks it up so it won't harm the exposed film. Then, in less than a thousandth of a second, a mechanical shutter closes and the film is saved.

The new high speed is due mainly to changes in the revolving mirror. In the original camera this was only a two-sided mirror, giving only two beam flashes to the film for each revolution. It spun at 10,000 revolutions per second.

With extra-strong steel, the three sided mirror can be turned at 23,000 revolutions per second and for each turn it gives three flashes to the film instead of two.

FREE AFTER 57 YEARS — Lyman W. Hall, 81, who went to prison in 1897, arrives in Chicago after serving more than 57 years for the murder of a Joliet constable. Looking around at life today, Hall declared he was amazed at the "changes" in women and was astounded to see thousands of automobiles in places he remembered "as country towns."

Vodka Sales Curbed

MOSCOW, May 25 (AP)—The Soviet Ministry of Trade published an official order today closing vodka quick-drink spots in Soviet cities.

This decree prohibited sales of alcoholic liquors by the glass in open street stands, stalls and buffets and also in bars and stands located near factories, schools, childrens' institutions, hospitals and clubs.

There had been strong press criticism of young workers, students, sport fans and others who got drunk at these stands.

Legless, Armless Boy Is Learning To Walk

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 25 (AP)—Two-year-old Lonnie Williams of Lexington, Tenn., born without arms or legs, today was reported by nurses as walking "amazingly well" on his two artificial legs.

In another two months he is expected to begin learning to use artificial arms.

Lonnie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Williams, was brought to the juvenile amputee training center at Mary Free Bed Children's Hospital and Orthopedic Center in Grand Rapids to be fitted with artificial limbs.

Lexington Rotarians, the Memphis Press Scimitar and other area newspapers launched a fund in his behalf in April which has grown to $6,000.

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP) — Five 29th Division officers who were in the D-Day assault on the beaches of Normandy are scheduled to fly to France next month to have a part in ceremonies marking the invasion's 10th anniversary.

The party is composed of Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, Baltimore, assistant division commander; Col. Archibald A. Sproul, Staunton, Va.; Lt. Col. Thomas F. Cadwalader Jr., Baltimore; Lt. Col. Victor P. Gillespie, Sudlersville, Md., and Maj. Clarence W. White, Baltimore.

Gen. Purnell said today the five will fly from Washington, D. C., to Paris June 1. From Paris they will proceed to Normandy for the ceremonies June 5 and 6.

Navy Stratosphere Checks Go Higher

The long, stringy plastic envelope which the Navy sent soaring more than 22 miles in the air over the Midwest was another in a series of experiments to learn more about the problems man will meet as he travels farther away from the earth's skin. In the process of gathering data on a variety of subjects, it apparently set a record for unmanned, lighter-than-air balloons of its type, although that wasn't the object of the trip.

The Office of Naval Research, which was the moving power behind the experiment, has been probing the stratosphere for years. Several years ago, when flying saucers were a household word, the Navy got in dutch with the press because it had been conducting a secret series of unmanned balloon flights in an operation called "Skyhook."

A careful rundown of the saucer sightings was later compared with the dates and places of the Skyhook experiments, and in some cases it was possible that the big silvery balloons, drifting miles in the atmosphere, had been mistakenly identified as another manifestation of visitors from outer space.

These experiments are highly scientific. Instruments of various sorts, packed into sealed containers, record all manner of upper air phenomena and send a constant stream of information back to base by radio. The Navy takes no chances of losing these instruments, and the information that has been recorded.

In addition to constant radio signals from the balloon revealing its whereabouts, there are radar and jet planes to track it. In the final stages of descent—this is also controlled by radio—such prosaic, landbound items as pickup trucks are used to swoop in and spirit the instrument case away from prying eyes.

Man has ascended more than 72,000 feet by balloon, and thousands of feet higher in the experimental rocket planes. The big, experimental rockets which go howling skyward over the New Mexico desert go far higher. But in the latter cases there are only the clusters of instruments to record the sensation, and they are mighty impersonal. But the time will come, no doubt, when man will ascend to those heights.

These Days

Guatemala

It is not casual that the Soviet Universal State selected Guatemala as a base for operations against the United States in the Americas. It is a populous country and the second largest in area in Central America. It lies on Mexico and the Hondurases. Its coastline touches both the Caribbean and the Pacific. Its influence can extend throughout Central America and into Mexico. It can be an excellent base to endanger the Panama Canal.

The country is rich in raw materials, bananas, hardwoods, chicle, sugar cane, cochineal, and coffee. Bananas became the principal item for export and most definitely affected the standard of living of the people, which was dreadfully low. The population consists of Negroes, Caribs and Indians and the various combinations of these races.

The principal commercial enterprise in Guatemala was the United Fruit Company, which, under the Agrarian Reform Law, June 17, 1952, was divested of about 240,000 acres by expropriation. The assets of the International Railway of Central America were seized as the result of a tax dispute in April 1953. Other companies have been confiscated.

Guatemala is now in that state of the Communist development known as a people's republic. This means a coalition of left wing political parties, in which the Communists are numerically not prevailing, but which they control anyhow by techniques developed in other countries. The leading party is called the Revolutionary Action party (PAR), which has 25 out of 56 members in the Congreso Nacional. This used to be a cover for Communists like the American Labor party in New York State. Most of the leading Communists are now in their own party, but this was done only to make it possible for the dominant party to be able to deny that Guatemala is a Communist country.

It is interesting to note that all political parties in Guatemala are either wholly Communist or have a Communist group within them. The most moderate of these is the Partido de la Revolucion Guatemalteca. The president of the country is Colonel Jacobo Arbenez, who was elected for a six-year term in 1950. Almost immediately after his inauguration in March 1951, the Communists came out into the open, leaving the cover party, the PAR, and by December 1952 established their own party, the Guatemalan Workers' party, which was legally registered and is now a member of the government coalition. Not a single fact justifies the claim that this is not a Communist country except that in the Aesopian language of the Marxists it would be called a people's republic.

Soviet Russia has since 1934 sought to establish a base of operations either in Cuba or in Mexico. In Cuba, the Communists encountered the opposition of General Batista, who suspended the functions of Congress and abolished political parties temporarily. Batista seized power on March 10, 1952, and will hold it until the next general election, which has twice been postponed. The Communists have not been able to work under Batista. In Mexico, the Communist parties are legal but not included in the government. The labor leader, Vicente Lombardo Toledano, is generally regarded as the Communist leader not only of Mexico but of Latin America.

The failure to establish a Communist base in Mexico, after the Soviet diplomat, Constantine Oumansky, was killed in an airplane accident in 1945, forced the Russians to develop another base. Other Central American countries were tried, but Marxism took hold best in Guatemala, which is now the first country affiliated with the Soviet Universal State in the Americas.

It represents a distinct threat to the peace of these continents because, pursuing a Marxist course, it must encourage revolutionary action among all its neighbors. Immediate trouble is to be expected in the Honduras, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Venezuela. The most important next objective will be Colombia because of its proximity to the Panama Canal.

In the development of a revolution leading to the establishment of a people's republic, arms are as essential as propagandists and penetrators into government. It must always be remembered that a confirmed Marxist, in whatever country, regards himself as belonging to the Soviet Universal State and not to his own country. Some may even be Russian citizens as are the Communist leaders in Korea. If Guatemala is to be the center of this operation, its operations in other countries will be supported by Marxists in those countries.

Big Discovery At The Trade Conference

Molotov Holds Key To Success Of Geneva Conference

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Nobody knows when this conference will end but almost everybody, except perhaps Mr. Molotov, is convinced that it will end in failure. The reason he is a possible exception is that he alone knows the answer to whether there is to be a settlement here.

Curiously enough, a basis for a settlement — satisfactory to both sides but not exactly relished by either — does exist. Both sides know what it could embrace. But the Soviets give the impression that the Red Chinese wouldn't like it, and the Red Chinese hint that their partners — the Vietminh faction in Vietnam — wouldn't go along.

It's truly a tragic lineup, and it seems incredible that sensible men, aware of the dangers and implications of failure, will not see the straight course that lies ahead. Here is what could be done:

Three-Course Plan

First, withdraw all invading troops from Cambodia and Laos, as these two countries have been the victims of an aggression by the Vietminh Communist troops.

Second, reassemble the various fighting groups inside Vietnam and form a line for an armistice so that all Communist troops will be north of the line.

Third, turn over to the United Nations the task of selecting a commission of countries to supervise the armistice.

Fourth, inaugurate steps through the United Nations to establish unity inside Vietnam and withdraw all foreign troops when conditions of peace and tranquility have been established and when the independence of Vietnam can be a realistic fact instead of a paper setup.

A somewhat analogous settlement is logical for Korea. Neither side within Korea will at first trust in the other, but unity cannot ever be established until the Communist control has been withdrawn.

So it amounts to a simple proposition: Do the Communist regimes at Moscow and Peiping really want to see peace restored in Indochina and Korea? They can bring it about if they wish, or they can do those things which will make the world situation worse because of these two problems and ultimately bring on another world war.

Mr. Molotov at times gives the impression that he would like to come out of this conference with a peace plan that both sides will take, but at other times he seems as intransigeant as ever. Under the circumstances, the Allies now are taking the only course open to them here. They are drawing together. This means they are removing those differences which gave hope to the Communists that they could play on a divided alliance in the West.

Reds Know Facts Now

The action of the British cabinet in telling Foreign Minister Eden that the time was up for dillydallying and that the Communists must expect Britain to stand alongside the United States is a sequel to comments of that kind which the British foreign minister made privately last week only to have his words disregarded as the Communists delegations went ahead with their attacks on the United Nations and on the Western countries.

The existence again of a unified Western alliance is a salutary development. It means that, if this conference fails, the military resources of the western countries will be placed behind not only a new program of cooperation with the forces defending Indochina against the Communists but a reinvigorated procedure for establishing the Southeast Asia Security Alliance.

The Communists know the facts now. Will they this week make the proposals that can really be the basis for a sincere negotiation? Nobody on the Allied side expects them to do so, but the Soviets might still surprise everybody. Just as a baseball game is not over till the last man is out, so here the conference cannot be said to be over till Mr. Molotov has said his final word.

Baering Down On The News

Emperor Haile Selassie's Visit Recalls His Losing Efforts Against Mussolini

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his daughter, Mrs. George L. Arnold, regarding some of the problems of the world that bother all of us.)

Washington, D. C.
May 24, 1954

Dear Daughter:

Your second son is playing on the floor near my typewriter while I have been trying to write a column. I am not making much progress. I am trying to write something about Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia who arrives in Washington this week, and about as far as I've got is the emperor's title: "King of the Kings of Ethiopia, Lion of Judah, the Elect of God."

It's a wonderful title, but about the time I get that much written, Georgie has to have his plastic lawn-mower fixed or wants me to fit his picture puzzle in the right place. I've tried to tell your son that I'm a busy man, but he seems to know that he can get most anything he wants out of his grandfather. Also he doesn't seem much impressed with the emperor of Ethiopia.

And as a three-year-old I don't particularly blame him. Yet I was thinking that Haile Selassie, to a considerable extent, had a lot to do with events leading up to a war that eventually sent Georgie's father with the Marines to Iwo Jima. If Haile Selassie had had his way, that war never would have happened. And the fact that he lost his effort to stop war, in a sense, really marked the beginning of World War II.

Another War?

And with his visit to the United States I can't help looking off in the direction of Indochina and wondering whether we aren't headed for another war in another distant part of the world, which may affect the life of the small boy who at this particular moment is poking a long stick at the dog crouched under my desk.

For the peace machinery of the world seems gradually to be breaking down, just as it broke down when the emperor of Ethiopia appealed to the world 20 years ago.

You won't recall it, but Ethiopia at that time was the pawn of England, France and Italy. And just as France and the Red forces are locked in mortal combat for the rice fields and raw materials of Indochina today, so the great powers of Europe eyed—and one of them later conquered—Ethiopia.

That was why Haile Selassie, recognizing the United States as the only power without territorial greed 20 years ago, sought our moral strength to protect the independent right of his Abyssinians to till their fields with wooden plows if they wanted and to hunt lions with spears instead of Italian bullets.

He got our support—in theory—but not in fact. For when Mussolini sent his black-shirts storming across the peaceful plateau of Ethiopia, the United States did try to rally public opinion against aggression, and did cooperate with the wobbly League of Nations to impose an economic boycott against the Fascist aggressor.

But we did not do much about enforcing the boycott. We even took deliberate steps to weaken it. For, when the big American oil companies pressured the State Department, we weakly agreed that oil would not be subject to embargo. In brief, we were willing to let Mussolini get all the gasoline his planes needed, all the diesel oil for his tanks and fuel oil for his navy. And so did the British.

So Ethiopia was conquered. The war was soon over. Most disastrous of all, the League of Nations' effort to stop war by economic punishment had fizzled.

Well, it took six years of bloody fighting in a world war that extended from the Arctic to the South Pacific to rectify this and other wrong by dictator nations over little nations.

International Crossed Wires

But the tragedy is that, whereas every small nation in the world once trusted us, and wanted our support and guidance as did Abyssinia one generation ago, this is not the case today. Today we've got our signals crossed, our metaphors mixed and our feet muddy with the stain of imperialism. We didn't mean to get snarled up that way, but it's a fact, we have.

In Indochina, for instance, we have let ourselves get sucked into the position of being the champion of a French colonialism that was rotten and decadent. And though you and I know that we don't champion imperialism, the world doesn't know it. For we have never properly clarified our position; so most of the world—poorly informed at best and fooled by Communist propaganda at worst—thinks we are.

In defending Haile Selassie 20 years ago the world knew we were on the side of justice. But in defending Indochina, the world thinks we're on the side of the oppressor.

They think of us as a nation which fought for independence against a foreign master 178 years ago and issued a great human document—the Declaration of Independence—to inspire others. And then having inspired others, they think we have deserted the ideals that made us.

The final tragedy is that we have been letting the world's peace machinery disintegrate right under our very nose, right in Manhattan where we placed the United Nations so we could guard and protect it.

So, when Haile Selassie comes to town this week, I'll think back to the days when he was a slender, pathetic figure standing before the League of Nations pleading his country's cause, and standing very much alone.

Well, the King of Kings and Lion of Judah is back on the throne now, a wise and kindly ruler. And I hope his coming here will make us remember his lesson, and, profiting by it, return to building up the peace machinery we have of late neglected.

Georgie is absorbed with his puzzle now. I told him about his week-old brother, and he is anxious to get home to see him—a couple of more reasons why we must strengthen the peace machinery of the world.

Love,
Daddy.

Mood Of War Changes

By Bob Considine

HONOLULU (INS) — It doesn't seem possible that our active participation in World War II, which eventually cost us a million casualties, $330,000,000,000, and additional financial commitments reaching into the 21st century, actually started in this paradise.

The mood and method of war has changed so violently in the 12½ years since the attack on Pearl Harbor that a repetition of that all-out attack in this atomic day and age would seem preposterous. If Russia strikes one would guess it would hit the big states-side population centers, perimeter A-bases, our industrial might and the great U. S. ports, and let some of its fleets of submarines with missile-launching apparatus surface off Pearl and Hickam and pepper away at this hibiscus-scented installation — once the No. 1 target of them all, or so the Japanese felt.

We were flattened at Pearl on December 7, 1941, by an enemy force composed of four carriers, three battleships, supporting cruisers and destroyers and a few two-man submarines. We lost 3,077 Navy killed and 876 wounded. We lost 226 Army killed and 396 wounded. "Several hundred" Army and Navy planes, the majority of them Army, were destroyed, most of them on the ground. That represented a stunning percentage of our entire Army Air Force.

Eighteen ships were hit by the Jap bombs, including eight battleships. Millions of Americans felt that because battleships had been battered, we were defenseless. Today, a wink of time later, we wouldn't dream of sending those battleships into service, any more than we'd send the Monitor or the Merrimac against a foe. Thus does tempus fugit in man's most successful field of progress — the one in which he devises new and intricate means of exterminating himself.

The Japanese war lords chose Pearl Harbor as their target because their planned aggression in the direction of Australia could be checked only by the U. S. fleet. That must be destroyed or immobilized, and it was, for months. An attack today would not be against a fleet concentration. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay said the other day before the Armed Forces Chemical Association that the No. 1 targets his S A C would search out would be airbases from which Russia (LeMay is honest enough always to name the enemy) might launch A-bomb or H-bomb attacks against us. The secondary targets would be industrial areas. He said nothing about the Russian fleet, or even its sub pens. The Russians, one supposes, feel about the same.

To repeat, before sitting down to a luau and listening to "Lovely Hula Hands" again, it doesn't seem possible that an attack on this idyllic place projected us into the position of steward of the exchequer and headaches of the free world.

Before leaving New York I appeared on "Meet the Press" and helped quiz the Dempsey and Firpo of high railroad finance — William White, president of the multi-billion dollar New York Central, and the challenger, R. R. Young, who wants the title.

It brought back memories of books about the old struggle of the titans of the 19th century for control of the major U. S. roads. No gold-headed canes were brandished menacingly at Studio 3-A, NBC, New York. But the tension was terrific. Each man came with crack public relations council, Bill Robinson (good friend of Eisenhower) representing White; Tom Deegan (good friend of the Pope) representing Young. Bill and Tom (Good friends of each other) nodded cordially, but the top adversaries created tons of ice with their stares. They reluctantly agreed to pose for photographers while a coin was flipped to see who'd go on first.

Benemid Is Capable Of Keeping Gout Under Control

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Benemid may do for gout what insulin has done for diabetes. By striking at the core of the disease, this remedy is capable of keeping it under control. The drug is slow acting and most effective when used over a long time.

Gout, unlike other forms of arthritis, is related to diet. Its victims are unable to cope with certain proteints (purines) in sardines, anchovies, and meats, especially organ meats. As a result, the chemical accumulates in the blood and forms deposits in bones and cartilages. This leads to periodic attacks of gouty arthritis in which various joints become red, swollen, and painful. Gout is a continuous disease even though it is characterized by periods of remissions, which explains the origin of the adage, "Once gouty, always gouty."

Early in the course of the disease, the sieges last seven to 10 days, separated by weeks or months of relief. But as the years pass, the painful episodes persist longer and come at more frequent intervals. Finally the chronic stage is reached, when the good days are few and far between.

Acute bouts of pains are remedied easily with colchicine or the salicylates. Colchicine has been popular for years because it is so effective in easing distress. The sufferer who awakens early in the morning with such severe pain he is incapacitated, may be relieved within 24 to 48 hours after taking the compound. Meanwhile, a diet low in fat and purine is recommended to lower the amount of uric acid in the blood. The level rarely returns to normal, however, except in mild cases. During the interim gout lies dormant, ready to strike at a moment's notice.

It is here that benemid enters the picture. The durg encourages the kidneys to eliminate uric acid and when taken over a long period of time, not only brings the uric acid level back to normal but drains the chemical from the urate deposits in joints and cartilages. It was used for this purpose by Dr. Elmer Bartels, of the Lahey Clinic, on 125 patients. Of this group, 42 had received benemid from 12 to 30 months and results were gratifying in 39. Many of these men and women suffered from chronic gout; others had several attacks each year and spent as long as eight weeks in bed because of pain. Following the administration of benemid, the uric acid level in the blood fell to normal within six weeks. So long as the drug was continued, there were no further bouts.

TOMORROW: The hard working heart.

HEARTBROKEN

Mrs. T. writes: Can prolonged grief cause heart trouble or othre disease?

REPLY

There have been so many stories of the death of grief-stricken individuals who died of heart disease, it is difficult to say it never occurs. Many of these persons are old and are victims of high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, or angina pectoris, conditions that are aggravated by emotional disturbances. The will to live is an intangible process and when it is lost in a person hovering between life and death, all too often death occurs.

GIRL'S HEIGHT

Mrs. H. writes: My daughter, who will be 15 in May, always was tall for her age and is now 5 feet 7¼ inches. Will she grow any more?

REPLY

I doubt if she will get much taller because most girls reach their limit by age 17.

DRINKING BEFORE TEST

H. V. S. writes: If a man took three alcoholic drinks before going for a blood study, would this affect the results?

REPLY

While alcohol can be detected in the blood five minutes after its ingestion, the drug has no effect upon the blood count. False positive reactions to the syphilis test have been attributed to a pre-examination alcoholic binge, but these are the exceptions rather than the rule.

OVULATION

Mrs. W. writes: How can the ovulation time be determined?

REPLY

The usual method is to take the temperature rectally every morning before getting out of bed. The daily temperature remains fairly constant and at low level until ovulation occurs, at which time it takes a sudden rise, in some instances, as much as .6 of one degree F.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Old Mr. Gotrox was even grumpier than usual as he stomped up and down the verandah of his summer hotel. The reason for his irritation finally was revealed when he admitted, "For two solid hours last night I had to listen to that blithering bore Allister telling me about his confounded rheumatism." "That's not like you, Gotrox," one old crony was emboldened to say. "Why didn't you trump his story with the account of your diabetes?" "Shucks!" scoffed Gotrox. "I led with that."

A famous movie magnate had to give his daughter's boy friend a job, so of course he made him producer of a three million dollar epic. When he saw the preview he carefully avoided the reproachful looks of his associates, but whispered to his wife, "One thing that boy has accomplished. He's set the son-in-law business back 20 years!"

GOP Rival Challenges Frederick's Mayor On Disclosure Of Extra Pay

FREDERICK, May 25 (AP) — John A. Derr, Republican candidate for mayor in Frederick's city elections June 8, said today he was shocked that Mayor Donald B. Rice has been getting extra pay for the job.

Derr referred to a disclosure yesterday that the Frederick board of aldermen, on Dec. 27, 1952, authorized extra payments which brought Rice's compensation up to $5,000 a year.

The mayor's salary is set at $3,000 a year by a local law enacted by the Maryland General Assembly. The Legislature in 1953 increased the pay to $6,000 a year but that does not go into effect until July.

The mayor and aldermen also disclosed yesterday $1,200 a year in extra pay had been authorized earlier for City Register Aubrey A. Nicodemus, a Republican.

A statement issued by the administration Monday said in both instances this was done because the mayor and register had been loaded with additional work which "was not and could not have been anticipated" by the Legislature the last time it revised municipal salary brackets for Frederick.

Derr declared today Mayor Rice owes the voters an explanation of the extra pay. He said he felt obligated to disclose the facts about it if the mayor does not give a satisfactory explanation.

The mayor said the action increasing his pay came as a surprise to him when the aldermen approved it.

He referred questions about legality to Jerome Offutt, city solicitor. Offutt said the precedent was set by his predecessor as solicitor, E. Austin James, in connection with the increased pay for Nicodemus.

Byrd Against Taft-Hartley

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP)—Dr. H. C. Byrd sent the Maryland-District of Columbia Federation of Labor convention into an uproar of approval today by declaring he is against the Taft-Hartley law and against "any 'right-to-work' law."

The former University of Maryland president seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, drew hearty endorsement from the 200 delegates in the convention hall for their annual meeting.

Moments earlier he had been introduced by Harry Cohen, president of the federation, as "the next governor of the State of Maryland."

Although the federation had not formally endorsed either Byrd or his opponent, George P. Mahoney, in the Democratic primary, its political education league came out in favor of Byrd several days ago. The federation claims a membership of more than 200,000.

Montgomery Co. Manager Resigns

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 25 (AP)—E. T. Beall, under indictment in Scioto County, Ohio, on charges of embezzlement of hospital funds in Portsmouth, resigned as Montgomery County, Md., manager today.

Beall in submitting his resignation told the County Council he is innocent of the Ohio charges, based upon a $738 shortage in funds of the Portsmouth City Hospital while he was city manager.

He has been on leave from his $12,500-a-year county manager post without pay since charges first named him in Portsmouth. He said he would continue to live in Montgomery County.

Witness In Hicks Case Is Released

LA PLATA, Md., May 25 (AP)—An "important witness" in the Louis A. Hicks case was released after taking a lie detector test, State's Attorney Robert T. Barbour said today.

The unidentified witness was the same person, who was questioned for more than three hours early Sunday morning about the case, Barbour told newsmen.

Hicks, a 34-year-old paralyzed war veteran, was found dead in the wreckage of the specially-equipped car last March 28. Authorities first listed the death as accidental, but since then police say they are investigating the case from "a homicide angle."

Earlier, the state's attorney said that during the last 24 hours state police and sheriff's deputies had questioned six persons not previously contacted in their investigation.

Concerning the lie detector test, Barbour's statement said only:

"An important witness was questioned tonight (Monday) and was released after taking a lie detector test at an undisclosed place." He did not elaborate.

Hicks was paralyzed from the waist down from a war injury suffered in the Battle of the Bulge. His body was found in his car after it crashed into his home near Port Tobacco.

The investigation into his death was reopened after authorities learned that the throttle of his special car had been taped open.

Chemical Plant, Warehouse Burn

PITTSBURGH, May 25 (AP) — A $100,000 fire destroyed a three-story brick chemical plant and warehouse today in a heavily populated residential area in Pittsburgh's Bluff district. No one was injured.

Police ordered more than 50 families from their homes on Vickroy Street as fear mounted that the searing flames would touch off a disasterous explosion. Several small blasts were heard inside.

Police Supt. James Slusser said about 500 gallons of nitro cellulose —a highly inflamable chemical— was stored in the building. The fire scene was two blocks from Duquesne University.

Fire Chief Steven Adley, who estimated the damage, said cause of the blaze has not been determined.

The men, Guy R. Sine, 45, of Winchester, and John D. Wiseman, 29, air controlman 1-c, Patuxent River, Md., Naval Air Station, apparently drowned when their small fishing boat sank 15 miles east of here.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving And Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment of saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Cumberland, Md., Thursday ONLY, May 27, 1954. These private individual demonstrations will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel on Thursday ONLY, May 27, 12 Noon to 9 p. m.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 20—In an interview here today Wm. L. Keele, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Keele Hair and Scalp Specialists Inc. said, "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Keele firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee," Keele said.

Once a person avails himself to the Keele treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days, your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Keele specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless the Keele firm can perform wonders.

Everyone is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical, it requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Keele firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Keele firm is sending specialists to various cities to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Keele emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Keele wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Keele said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment, it all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist L. J. Bryan at the Fort Cumberland Hotel in Cumberland, Md. on Thursday ONLY, May 27, 12 Noon to 9 P. M. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.—Adv.

Navy Stratosphere Checks Go Higher

The long, stringy plastic envelope which the Navy sent soaring more than 22 miles in the air over the Midwest was another in a series of experiments to learn more about the problems man will meet as he travels farther away from the earth's skin. In the process of gathering data on a variety of subjects, it apparently set a record for unmanned, lighter-than-air balloons of its type, although that wasn't the object of the trip.

The Office of Naval Research, which was the moving power behind the experiment, has been probing the stratosphere for years. Several years ago, when flying saucers were a household word, the Navy got in dutch with the press because it had been conducting a secret series of unmanned balloon flights in an operation called "Skyhook."

A careful rundown of the saucer sightings was later compared with the dates and places of the Skyhook experiments, and in some cases it was possible that the big silvery balloons, drifting miles in the atmosphere, had been mistakenly identified as another manifestation of visitors from outer space.

These experiments are highly scientific. Instruments of various sorts, packed into sealed containers, record all manner of upper air phenomena and send a constant stream of information back to base by radio. The Navy takes no chances of losing these instruments, and the information that has been recorded.

In addition to constant radio signals from the balloon revealing its whereabouts, there are radar and jet planes to track it. In the final stages of descent—this is also controlled by radio—such prosaic, landbound items as pickup trucks are used to swoop in and spirit the instrument case away from prying eyes.

Man has ascended more than 72,000 feet by balloon, and thousands of feet higher in the experimental rocket planes. The big, experimental rockets which go howling skyward over the New Mexico desert go far higher. But in the latter cases there are only the clusters of instruments to record the sensation, and they are mighty impersonal. But the time will come, no doubt, when man will ascend to those heights.

These Days

Guatemala

It is not casual that the Soviet Universal State selected Guatemala as a base for operations against the United States in the Americas. It is a populous country and the second largest in area in Central America. It lies on Mexico and the Hondurases. Its coastline touches both the Caribbean and the Pacific. Its influence can extend throughout Central America and into Mexico. It can be an excellent base to endanger the Panama Canal.

The country is rich in raw materials, bananas, hardwoods, chicle, sugar cane, cochineal, and coffee. Bananas became the principal item for export and most definitely affected the standard of living of the people, which was dreadfully low. The population consists of Negroes, Caribs and Indians and the various combinations of these races.

The principal commercial enterprise in Guatemala was the United Fruit Company, which, under the Agrarian Reform Law, June 17, 1952, was divested of about 240,000 acres by expropriation. The assets of the International Railway of Central America were seized as the result of a tax dispute in April 1953. Other companies have been confiscated.

Guatemala is now in that state of the Communist development known as a people's republic. This means a coalition of left wing political parties, in which the Communists are numerically not prevailing, but which they control anyhow by techniques developed in other countries. The leading party is called the Revolutionary Action party (PAR), which has 25 out of 56 members in the Congreso Nacional. This used to be a cover for Communists like the American Labor party in New York State. Most of the leading Communists are now in their own party, but this was done only to make it possible for the dominant party to be able to deny that Guatemala is a Communist country.

It is interesting to note that all political parties in Guatemala are either wholly Communist or have a Communist group within them. The most moderate of these is the Partido de la Revolucion Guatemalteca. The president of the country is Colonel Jacobo Arbenez, who was elected for a six-year term in 1950. Almost immediately after his inauguration in March 1951, the Communists came out into the open, leaving the cover party, the PAR, and by December 1952 established their own party, the Guatemalan Workers' party, which was legally registered and is now a member of the government coalition. Not a single fact justifies the claim that this is not a Communist country except that in the Aesopian language of the Marxists it would be called a people's republic.

Soviet Russia has since 1934 sought to establish a base of operations either in Cuba or in Mexico. In Cuba, the Communists encountered the opposition of General Batista, who suspended the functions of Congress and abolished political parties temporarily. Batista seized power on March 10, 1952, and will hold it until the next general election, which has twice been postponed. The Communists have not been able to work under Batista. In Mexico, the Communist parties are legal but not included in the government. The labor leader, Vicente Lombardo Toledano, is generally regarded as the Communist leader not only of Mexico but of Latin America.

The failure to establish a Communist base in Mexico, after the Soviet diplomat, Constantine Oumansky, was killed in an airplane accident in 1945, forced the Russians to develop another base. Other Central American countries were tried, but Marxism took hold best in Guatemala, which is now the first country affiliated with the Soviet Universal State in the Americas.

It represents a distinct threat to the peace of these continents because, pursuing a Marxist course, it must encourage revolutionary action among all its neighbors. Immediate trouble is to be expected in the Honduras, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Venezuela. The most important next objective will be Colombia because of its proximity to the Panama Canal.

In the development of a revolution leading to the establishment of a people's republic, arms are as essential as propagandists and penetrators into government. It must always be remembered that a confirmed Marxist, in whatever country, regards himself as belonging to the Soviet Universal State and not to his own country. Some may even be Russian citizens as are the Communist leaders in Korea. If Guatemala is to be the center of this operation, its operations in other countries will be supported by Marxists in those countries.

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his daughter, Mrs. George L. Arnold, regarding some of the problems of the world that bother all of us.)

Washington, D. C.
May 24, 1954

Dear Daughter:

Your second son is playing on the floor near my typewriter while I have been trying to write a column. I am not making much progress. I am trying to write something about Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia who arrives in Washington this week, and about as far as I've got is the emperor's title: "King of the Kings of Ethiopia, Lion of Judah, the Elect of God."

It's a wonderful title, but about the time I get that much written, Georgie has to have his plastic lawn-mower fixed or wants me to fit his picture puzzle in the right place. I've tried to tell your son that I'm a busy man, but he seems to know that he can get most anything he wants out of his grandfather. Also he doesn't seem much impressed with the emperor of Ethiopia.

And as a three-year-old I don't particularly blame him. Yet I was thinking that Haile Selassie, to a considerable extent, had a lot to do with events leading up to a war that eventually sent Georgie's father with the Marines to Iwo Jima. If Haile Selassie had had his way, that war never would have happened. And the fact that he lost his effort to stop war, in a sense, really marked the beginning of World War II.

Another War?

And with his visit to the United States I can't help looking off in the direction of Indochina and wondering whether we aren't headed for another war in another distant part of the world, which may affect the life of the small boy who at this particular moment is poking a long stick at the dog crouched under my desk.

For the peace machinery of the world seems gradually to be breaking down, just as it broke down when the emperor of Ethiopia appealed to the world 20 years ago.

You won't recall it, but Ethiopia at that time was the pawn of England, France and Italy. And just as France and the Red forces are locked in mortal combat for the rice fields and raw materials of Indochina today, so the great powers of Europe eyed—and one of them later conquered—Ethiopia.

That was why Haile Selassie, recognizing the United States as the only power without territorial greed 20 years ago, sought our moral strength to protect the independent right of his Abyssinians to till their fields with wooden plows if they wanted and to hunt lions with spears instead of Italian bullets.

He got our support—in theory—but not in fact. For when Mussolini sent his black-shirts storming across the peaceful plateau of Ethiopia, the United States did try to rally public opinion against aggression, and did cooperate with the wobbly League of Nations to impose an economic boycott against the Fascist aggressor.

But we did not do much about enforcing the boycott. We even took deliberate steps to weaken it. For, when the big American oil companies pressured the State Department, we weakly agreed that oil would not be subject to embargo. In brief, we were willing to let Mussolini get all the gasoline his planes needed, all the diesel oil for his tanks and fuel oil for his navy. And so did the British.

So Ethiopia was conquered. The war was soon over. Most disastrous of all, the League of Nations' effort to stop war by economic punishment had fizzled.

Well, it took six years of bloody fighting in a world war that extended from the Arctic to the South Pacific to rectify this and other wrong by dictator nations over little nations.

International Crossed Wires

But the tragedy is that, whereas every small nation in the world once trusted us, and wanted our support and guidance as did Abyssinia one generation ago, this is not the case today. Today we've got our signals crossed, our metaphors mixed and our feet muddy with the stain of imperialism. We didn't mean to get snarled up that way, but it's a fact, we have.

In Indochina, for instance, we have let ourselves get sucked into the position of being the champion of a French colonialism that was rotten and decadent. And though you and I know that we don't champion imperialism, the world doesn't know it. For we have never properly clarified our position; so most of the world—poorly informed at best and fooled by Communist propaganda at worst—thinks we are.

In defending Haile Selassie 20 years ago the world knew we were on the side of justice. But in defending Indochina, the world thinks we're on the side of the oppressor.

They think of us as a nation which fought for independence against a foreign master 178 years ago and issued a great human document—the Declaration of Independence—to inspire others. And then having inspired others, they think we have deserted the ideals that made us.

The final tragedy is that we have been letting the world's peace machinery disintegrate right under our very nose, right in Manhattan where we placed the United Nations so we could guard and protect it.

So, when Haile Selassie comes to town this week, I'll think back to the days when he was a slender, pathetic figure standing before the League of Nations pleading his country's cause, and standing very much alone.

Well, the King of Kings and Lion of Judah is back on the throne now, a wise and kindly ruler. And I hope his coming here will make us remember his lesson, and, profiting by it, return to building up the peace machinery we have of late neglected.

Georgie is absorbed with his puzzle now. I told him about his week-old brother, and he is anxious to get home to see him—a couple of more reasons why we must strengthen the peace machinery of the world.

Love,
Daddy.

Molotov Holds Key To Success Of Geneva Conference

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Nobody knows when this conference will end but almost everybody, except perhaps Mr. Molotov, is convinced that it will end in failure. The reason he is a possible exception is that he alone knows the answer to whether there is to be a settlement here.

Curiously enough, a basis for a settlement — satisfactory to both sides but not exactly relished by either — does exist. Both sides know what it could embrace. But the Soviets give the impression that the Red Chinese wouldn't like it, and the Red Chinese hint that their partners — the Vietminh faction in Vietnam — wouldn't go along.

It's truly a tragic lineup, and it seems incredible that sensible men, aware of the dangers and implications of failure, will not see the straight course that lies ahead. Here is what could be done:

Three-Course Plan

First, withdraw all invading troops from Cambodia and Laos, as these two countries have been the victims of an aggression by the Vietminh Communist troops.

Second, reassemble the various fighting groups inside Vietnam and form a line for an armistice so that all Communist troops will be north of the line.

Third, turn over to the United Nations the task of selecting a commission of countries to supervise the armistice.

Fourth, inaugurate steps through the United Nations to establish unity inside Vietnam and withdraw all foreign troops when conditions of peace and tranquility have been established and when the independence of Vietnam can be a realistic fact instead of a paper setup.

A somewhat analogous settlement is logical for Korea. Neither side within Korea will at first trust in the other, but unity cannot ever be established until the Communist control has been withdrawn.

So it amounts to a simple proposition: Do the Communist regimes at Moscow and Peiping really want to see peace restored in Indochina and Korea? They can bring it about if they wish, or they can do those things which will make the world situation worse because of these two problems and ultimately bring on another world war.

Mr. Molotov at times gives the impression that he would like to come out of this conference with a peace plan that both sides will take, but at other times he seems as intransigeant as ever. Under the circumstances, the Allies now are taking the only course open to them here. They are drawing together. This means they are removing those differences which gave hope to the Communists that they could play on a divided alliance in the West.

Reds Know Facts Now

The action of the British cabinet in telling Foreign Minister Eden that the time was up for dillydallying and that the Communists must expect Britain to stand alongside the United States is a sequel to comments of that kind which the British foreign minister made privately last week only to have his words disregarded as the Communists delegations went ahead with their attacks on the United Nations and on the Western countries.

The existence again of a unified Western alliance is a salutary development. It means that, if this conference fails, the military resources of the western countries will be placed behind not only a new program of cooperation with the forces defending Indochina against the Communists but a reinvigorated procedure for establishing the Southeast Asia Security Alliance.

The Communists know the facts now. Will they this week make the proposals that can really be the basis for a sincere negotiation? Nobody on the Allied side expects them to do so, but the Soviets might still surprise everybody. Just as a baseball game is not over till the last man is out, so here the conference cannot be said to be over till Mr. Molotov has said his final word.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Washington is slightly overstocked on butter with 360,000,000 pounds of Holstein grease waiting for a favorable moment to turn rancid.

If you don't ask for it with a western accent you can shop it for forty-six cents per poundage. If you are a free and equal citizen you pay seventy.

It must be that extra fourteen that makes you equal.

England will take 40,000,000 pounds indicating Britons shall never be slaves to anything but their habits. Austerity never did include dry toast.

The belles of Ubangi will take another 40,000,000 pounds to touch up squeaky wheels and set their hair.

We are sending an agricultural expert with 4,000,000 pounds to the summer sled runs of the Alps. The Swiss are not sure whether you butter the toboggan slide or the seat of the contestant's pants.

Nobody can quite understand why we should turn a one-cow dairy into a give-away program. We've looked through the Monroe Doctrine and can't find any cooking recipes.

At home we're paying tops for the bottoms. Abroad our best is none too good for our absentee guests. They're wiping their feet on the flying carpet, playing a cornet solo on the horn of plenty, rapping open sesame on the bargain basement and lighting themselves to a midnight snack in the face with Aladdin's wonderful indirect illumination.

You cannot be president of the U.S.A. if you are born abroad. But if you stay there you can eat like one.

We have other picnic spreads of oleo, apple butter, cheese and marmalade they haven't tried yet. But it's the real country butter that weather proofs pagoda roofs and sparkles in minarets.

We also have stockpiles of ambergris and slagheaps of caviar waiting for dessert. We always get the carte before the ala.

Mood Of War Changes

By Bob Considine

HONOLULU (INS) — It doesn't seem possible that our active participation in World War II, which eventually cost us a million casualties, $330,000,000,000, and additional financial commitments reaching into the 21st century, actually started in this paradise.

The mood and method of war has changed so violently in the 12½ years since the attack on Pearl Harbor that a repetition of that all-out attack in this atomic day and age would seem preposterous. If Russia strikes one would guess it would hit the big states-side population centers, perimeter A-bases, our industrial might and the great U. S. ports, and let some of its fleets of submarines with missile-launching apparatus surface off Pearl and Hickam and pepper away at this hibiscus-scented installation — once the No. 1 target of them all, or so the Japanese felt.

We were flattened at Pearl on December 7, 1941, by an enemy force composed of four carriers, three battleships, supporting cruisers and destroyers and a few two-man submarines. We lost 3,077 Navy killed and 876 wounded. We lost 226 Army killed and 396 wounded. "Several hundred" Army and Navy planes, the majority of them Army, were destroyed, most of them on the ground. That represented a stunning percentage of our entire Army Air Force.

Eighteen ships were hit by the Jap bombs, including eight battleships. Millions of Americans felt that because battleships had been battered, we were defenseless. Today, a wink of time later, we wouldn't dream of sending those battleships into service, any more than we'd send the Monitor or the Merrimac against a foe. Thus does tempus fugit in man's most successful field of progress — the one in which he devises new and intricate means of exterminating himself.

The Japanese war lords chose Pearl Harbor as their target because their planned aggression in the direction of Australia could be checked only by the U. S. fleet. That must be destroyed or immobilized, and it was, for months. An attack today would not be against a fleet concentration. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay said the other day before the Armed Forces Chemical Association that the No. 1 targets his S A C would search out would be airbases from which Russia (LeMay is honest enough always to name the enemy) might launch A-bomb or H-bomb attacks against us. The secondary targets would be industrial areas. He said nothing about the Russian fleet, for even its sub pens. The Russians, one supposes, feel about the same.

To repeat, before sitting down to a luau and listening to "Lovely Hula Hands" again, it doesn't seem possible that an attack on this idyllic place projected us into the position of steward of the exchequer and headaches of the free world.

Before leaving New York I appeared on "Meet the Press" and helped quiz the Dempsey and Firpo of high railroad finance — William White, president of the multi-billion dollar New York Central, and the challenger, R. R. Young, who wants the title.

It brought back memories of books about the old struggle of the titans of the 19th century for control of the major U. S. roads. No gold-headed canes were brandished menacingly at Studio 3-A, NBC, New York. But the tension was terrific. Each man came with crack public relations council, Bill Robinson (good friend of Eisenhower) representing White; Tom Deegan (good friend of the Pope) representing Young. Bill and Tom (Good friends of each other) nodded cordially, but the top adversaries created tons of ice with their stares. They reluctantly agreed to pose for photographers while a coin was flipped to see who'd go on first.

Benemid Is Capable Of Keeping Gout Under Control

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Benemid may do for gout what insulin has done for diabetes. By striking at the core of the disease, this remedy is capable of keeping it under control. The drug is slow acting and most effective when used over a long time.

Gout, unlike other forms of arthritis, is related to diet. Its victims are unable to cope with certain proteints (purines) in sardines, anchovies, and meats, especially organ meats. As a result, the chemical accumulates in the blood and forms deposits in bones and cartilages. This leads to periodic attacks of gouty arthritis in which various joints become red, swollen, and painful. Gout is a continuous disease even though it is characterized by periods of remissions, which explains the origin of the adage, "Once gouty, always gouty."

Early in the course of the disease, the sieges last seven to 10 days, separated by weeks or months of relief. But as the years pass, the painful episodes persist longer and come at more frequent intervals. Finally the chronic stage is reached, when the good days are few and far between.

Acute bouts of pains are remedied easily with colchicine or the salicylates. Colchicine has been popular for years because it is so effective in easing distress. The sufferer who awakens early in the morning with such severe pain he is incapacitated, may be relieved within 24 to 48 hours after taking the compound. Meanwhile, a diet low in fat and purine is recommended to lower the amount of uric acid in the blood. The level rarely returns to normal, however, except in mild cases. During the interim gout lies dormant, ready to strike at a moment's notice.

It is here that benemid enters the picture. The durg encourages the kidneys to eliminate uric acid and when taken over a long period of time, not only brings the uric acid level back to normal but drains the chemical from the urate deposits in joints and cartilages. It was used for this purpose by Dr. Elmer Bartels, of the Lahey Clinic, on 125 patients. Of this group, 42 had received benemid from 12 to 30 months and results were gratifying in 39. Many of these men and women suffered from chronic gout; others had several attacks each year and spent as long as eight weeks in bed because of pain. Following the administration of benemid, the uric acid level in the blood fell to normal within six weeks. So long as the drug was continued, there were no further bouts.

TOMORROW: The hard working heart.

HEARTBROKEN

Mrs. T. writes: Can prolonged grief cause heart trouble or othre disease?

REPLY

There have been so many stories of the death of grief-stricken individuals who died of heart disease, it is difficult to say it never occurs. Many of these persons are old and are victims of high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, or angina pectoris, conditions that are aggravated by emotional disturbances. The will to live is an intangible process and when it is lost in a person hovering between life and death, all too often death occurs.

GIRL'S HEIGHT

Mrs. H. writes: My daughter, who will be 15 in May, always was tall for her age and is now 5 feet 7¼ inches. Will she grow any more?

REPLY

I doubt if she will get much taller because most girls reach their limit by age 17.

DRINKING BEFORE TEST

H. V. S. writes: If a man took three alcoholic drinks before going for a blood study, would this affect the results?

REPLY

While alcohol can be detected in the blood five minutes after its ingestion, the drug has no effect upon the blood count. False positive reactions to the syphilis test have been attributed to a pre-examination alcoholic binge, but these are the exceptions rather than the rule.

OVULATION

Mrs. W. writes: How can the ovulation time be determined?

REPLY

The usual method is to take the temperature rectally every morning before getting out of bed. The daily temperature remains fairly constant and at low level until ovulation occurs, at which time it takes a sudden rise, in some instances, as much as .6 of one degree F.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Old Mr. Gotrox was even grumpier than usual as he stomped up and down the verandah of his summer hotel. The reason for his irritation finally was revealed when he admitted, "For two solid hours last night I had to listen to that blithering bore Allister telling me about his confounded rheumatism." "That's not like you, Gotrox," one old crony was emboldened to say. "Why didn't you trump his story with the account of your diabetes?" "Shucks!" scoffed Gotrox. "I led with that."

A famous movie magnate had to give his daughter's boy friend a job, so of course he made him producer of a three million dollar epic. When he saw the preview he carefully avoided the reproachful looks of his associates, but whispered to his wife, "One thing that boy has accomplished. He's set the son-in-law business back 20 years!"

Frostburg Man To Get Hearing

Charges of assault and carrying a concealed weapon will be preferred today in Trial Magistrates Court against a Frostburg man accused of pointing a pistol at two Cash Valley youngsters Monday afternoon.

The hearing for Irvin Wolford, 27, is scheduled at 10:30 a. m. before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, according to Cpl. William F. Baker.

Cpl. Baker said Wolford was parked at a lane leading into the Clement Helmstetter property on Cash Valley Road about 5:30 p. m. with a companion. Helmstetter sent his 10-year-old daughter, Ann, and 18-year-old son, Clement Francis, to the car to tell the man to drive away from the lane.

When the Helmstetter boy and girl arrived at the scene on their bicycle Wolford allegedly drew the pistol from the glove compartment and pointed it in their direction. The girl became frightened and ran home crying, Cpl. Baker was told. The youth remained at the scene.

Wolford was questioned yesterday by Cpl. Baker. The gun was found in the car. Wolford said he was only trying to "show off" and did not point the gun at the children but at their bicycle.

Diagnostic Adjustment Center For Adult Blind To Be Held At Romney, W. Va. From June 6 To 26

ROMNEY — The West Virginia Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, through its Service Section for the Blind and Severly Disabled will conduct its fifth Diagnostic Adjustment Center for Adult Blind at the West Virginia School for the Blind at Romney from June 6 to 26, F. Ray Power, director of Vocational Rehabilitation, announced yesterday.

Adult blind trainees will come from all sections of the State. It is estimated that approximately 50 blind persons will receive this specialized diagnostic adjustment evaluation. The participants will include both male and female, colored and white.

The purpose of this Center is to determine the skills of each blind participant, and then to develop these skills, looking toward the eventual placement of each person in a job to which he is especially suited and at which he can earn a living. Since many of these adult blind persons have had little or no attention directed toward their adjustment to blindness, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation will help them develop work skills which they can use without sight.

Dr. Wade O. Stalnaker, Supervisor of Services for the Blind and Severly Disabled, will be director of the Center. He has been in charge of previous Diagnostic Adjustment Center programs which have proved to be very effective in the rehabilitation of unemployed blind persons into suitable jobs.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Division now has on its active rolls 182 blind persons in need of jobs. A total of 38 blind persons were rehabilitated into jobs last year and a total of 27 have been rehabilitated into jobs to date this year. The Center is utilized as a means of preparing the blind for jobs.

PSC Dedicates 1954 Year Book To 2 Teachers

KEYSER—The staff of the 1954 edition of the Potomac State College year book, the "Catamount," dedicated this year's publication to James T. Handlan, Jr., and William E. Michael, members of the college faculty.

Citing their many contributions to both the college and the community, the dedication reads:

"James T. Handlan and William E. Michael have devotedly served students and college faculty as well as the Keyser youth and towns-people with faithfulness to every task. 'Jim' and 'Mike', as they are, affectionately known, have labored harmoniously together, displaying resourcefulness and creative thinking in presenting class material, in extra-curricular endeavors, and in civic improvements."

Charges of assault and carrying a concealed weapon will be preferred today in Trial Magistrates Court against a Frostburg man accused of pointing a pistol at two Cash Valley youngsters Monday afternoon.

The hearing for Irvin Wolford, 27, is scheduled at 10:30 a. m. before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, according to Cpl. William F. Baker.

Cpl. Baker said Wolford was parked at a lane leading into the Clement Helmstetter property on Cash Valley Road about 5:30 p. m. with a companion. Helmstetter sent his 10-year-old daughter, Ann, and 18-year-old son, Clement Francis, to the car to tell the man to drive away from the lane.

When the Helmstetter boy and girl arrived at the scene on their bicycle Wolford allegedly drew the pistol from the glove compartment and pointed it in their direction. The girl became frightened and ran home crying, Cpl. Baker was told. The youth remained at the scene.

Wolford was questioned yesterday by Cpl. Baker. The gun was found in the car. Wolford said he was only trying to "show off" and did not point the gun at the children but at their bicycle.

Diagnostic Adjustment Center For Adult Blind To Be Held At Romney, W. Va. From June 6 To 26

ROMNEY — The West Virginia Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, through its Service Section for the Blind and Severly Disabled will conduct its fifth Diagnostic Adjustment Center for Adult Blind at the West Virginia School for the Blind at Romney from June 6 to 26, F. Ray Power, director of Vocational Rehabilitation, announced yesterday.

Adult blind trainees will come from all sections of the State. It is estimated that approximately 80 blind persons will receive this specialized diagnostic adjustment evaluation. The participants will include both male and female, colored and white.

The purpose of this Center is to determine the skills of each blind participant, and then to develop these skills, looking toward the eventual placement of each person in a job to which he is especially suited and at which he can earn a living. Since many of these adult blind persons have had little or no attention directed toward their adjustment to blindness, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation will help them develop work skills which they can use without sight.

Dr. Wade O. Stalnaker, Supervisor of Services for the Blind and Severly Disabled, will be director of the Center. He has been in charge of previous Diagnostic Adjustment Center programs which have proved to be very effective in the rehabilitation of unemployed blind persons into suitable jobs.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Division now has on its active rolls 182 blind persons in need of jobs. A total of 38 blind persons were rehabilitated into jobs last year and a total of 27 have been rehabilitated into jobs to date this year. The Center is utilized as a means of preparing the blind for jobs.

Liberalized Insurance For Disabled Endorsed

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — An administration proposal to liberalize the old-age insurance benefits of persons who become disabled before retirement was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The proposal would "freeze" the benefits of a disabled person at the amount he would have received had he retired before becoming disabled. Existing law provides for a reduction in benefits if payments into the social security fund are not made during a period of disability.

The famous Thirty Years war originated in Germany.

PSC Dedicates 1954 Year Book To 2 Teachers

KEYSER—The staff of the 1954 edition of the Potomac State College year book, the "Catamount," dedicated this year's publication to James T. Handlan, Jr., and William E. Michael, members of the college faculty.

Citing their many contributions to both the college and the community, the dedication reads:

"James T. Handlan and William E. Michael have devotedly served students and college faculty as well as the Keyser youth and towns-people with faithfulness to every task. 'Jim' and 'Mike', as they are affectionately known, have labored harmoniously together, displaying resourcefulness and creative thinking in presenting class material, in extra-curricular endeavors, and in civic improvements."

Fairgo Races June 23-July 3 Are Approved By Commission

"Pro"-Amateur Is Set For CCC

A special "Pro"-Amateur golf tournament, open to all golfing members will be held Sunday, May 30, by the Men's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club.

Low handicap players are designed as "pros" and their names will be posted in the locker room in the golf shop prior to the tournament. Each "pro" is allowed his full handicap.

Each "Pro" plays with three amateurs and three best-ball scores are turned in for each "pro"-amateur foursome — the "Pro" in combination with each of the amateurs with whom he is playing. The amateurs are allowed full handicaps.

All amateurs play against one another in a sweepstakes for net prizes. All the "pros" play against one another in a sweepstakes for net and gross prizes. Additional prizes will be added if the number of entries warrants such action.

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission gave the Cumberland half mile track permission again today to change its dates to June 23-July 3.

Bill Graham, secretary of the commission, announced today the American Totalisator Co. of Baltimore had assured the use of its machines.

15 Get Wrist Watches, 118 At Moose Banquet

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 25 — Outstanding athletes of Romney High School at the West Virginia School for the Deaf received memorial awards at the tenth annual banquet sponsored by Romney Lodge No. 1371, Loyal Order of Moose, at the Moose Home.

David Green, Romney High, earned the top basketball award, a gold wrist watch, also presented by the Moose Lodge. Roger Parker, runner-up, was the recipient of a pen and pencil set.

The gold wrist watch award, inaugurated by the Carlton Restaurant for the outstanding athlete at the West Virginia School for the Deaf went to Bradley Tuell. Charles Pyles, runner-up, was presented a pen and pencil set by the Moose Lodge.

A. C. Loy, superintendent of schools, headed a citizens' committee that raised funds for gold wrist watches that were presented to twelve Romney High School seniors.

Ralph Dusic, state director of Moose lodges, was master of ceremonies, and the principal speaker was Robert "Red" Brown, West Virginia University varisty basketball coach, who stressed the importance of schools and colleges running their own athletic programs and condemned interference from inexperienced outsiders.

One hundred and eighteen attended the awards dinner given in memory of three former Romney High athletes — Eugene Thorpe, William Pownall and Paul Harmison — who were killed in action in the Second World War.

Martinez And Davey Fight At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP)—In his first Chicago Stadium start since Kid Gavilan stopped him there 15 months ago, Chuck Davey meets Vince Martinez in a televised welterweight 10-rounder tomorrow night (9 p.m. EST).

An 7-5 underdog, Davey is risking the chance of ruining a big Los Angeles gate in a scheduled June 25 re-match with Art Aragon as he takes on sixth-ranked Martinez, beaten only three times in 36 bouts.

Martinez has flattened 20 opponents, five kayos coming in a current string of nine straight victories. The Paterson, N. J., belter is clamoring for a shot at Gavilan's welter crown.

Fort Hill's Sentinels snapped the five-game winning streak of the Allegany High School yesterday by defeating the Campers at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-5.

The victory advanced Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation into the runner-up spot in the Bi-State race with a 9-3 record, one full game back of the front-running LaSalle Explorers who made it six in a row by whipping Valley High School at Barton by the score of 8-3.

Not only did Fort Hill crack the Campers' win string but the Hilltoppers halted the winning ways of Bobby Dawson, Allegany ace, who had bagged five decisions in a row and had posted a 7-1 record prior to yesterday's contest.

The loss was the sixth straight for Allegany in city competition since 1952. They dropped four in a row to local schools last year and two this season.

LaSalle and Fort Hill are now tied in the city race with 2-1 records.

Allegany was leading 5-4 in yesterday's game when the city series "jinx" put in its appearance in the final frame.

How Sentinels Won

Dawson issued his first pass of the game to Ronnie Lewis and the latter took second on Dorcil Kline's single. Both runners advanced a base on Freddie Wolford's sacrifice. E. McKenney bunted down the third base line, scoring Lewis with the run that knotted the score at 5-5. Harry Iser, Camper third sacker, fielded the ball, heaved it to first base, which was uncovered, and Kline raced home with the deciding tally.

Lefty Wayne Murray, who went all the way for Fort Hill, notched his fourth conference win of the season and having lost in his last two outings. He fanned seven, the same number of victims credited to Dawson.

Bob Kirtley belted a two-run homer for the Campers during a four-run explosion in the third inning. Galen McGregor and Dorcil Kline smacked triples for the Sentinels and Harry Hixenbaugh rapped a double for AHS to account for the other extra base wallops. Hixenbaugh and Kirtley drove in four of the losers' five runs.

Joe Conroy Wins Third

Joe Conroy notched his third win of the campaign in LaSalle's triumph at Barton. He gained the verdict over Rich Waddell, Valley High basketball star who was sidelined most of the 1953-54 cage campaign due to a foot injury, and was pitching his first full game for Johnny Meyers' Black Knights.

LaSalle scored seven of its eight runs in the first three innings. Barney Spearman paced the Explorers at the plate with a triple and two singles and Harold Hudson had two hits. Robertson, Cuthbertson and Brown had two blows each for Valley High.

Conroy and Waddell yielded eight hits each. Waddell fanned seven and Conroy 5.

Two Games Set Today

LaSalle seeks its third win in as many days when it faces Mt. Savage today at the latter place. Fort Hill is also in action for the third straight day, being scheduled to play Hyndman High on the Pennsylvanians' field.

Braves Extend String

CINCINNATI, May 25 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves chalked up their eighth straight victory tonight, downing the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Warren Spahn, who homered in an insurance run.

Hank Aaron smashed a home run in the same inning with Joe Adcock aboard to give the Braves a full game lead in the National League.

Toby Colaw's Single Decides Game In 7th

OAKLAND, May 25—Undefeated Southern High School scored its sixth win of the season today by defeating its Garrett county rival, Northern High at Accident by the score of 4-3.

Coach Leonard Ritchie's team won the game in the 7th inning when Bob Glaze was safe on an error, advanced to second on Fred Colaw's sacrifice and crossed the plate on Toby Colaw's single to right field.

Liberalized Insurance For Disabled Endorsed

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — An administration proposal to liberalize the old-age insurance benefits of persons who become disabled before retirement was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The proposal would "freeze" the benefits of a disabled person at the amount he would have received had he retired before becoming disabled. Existing law provides for a reduction in benefits if payments into the social security fund are not made during a period of disability.

The famous Thirty Years war originated in Germany.

22 School Champs Qualify For Area Marbles Finals

Officials Named; Bolinger Victory Winds Up Prelims

With the victory yesterday at Centre Street of Terry Bolinger all 22 schools, public and parochial, have completed their individual marbles tournaments in preparation for the Cumberland area finals next Tuesday, June 1, at 3:30 p. m. in the model rings at Gephart Playground, Frederick street.

Bolinger, last year's runnerup at Centre Street, shot his way through more than a half hundred contenders to face David Cope in this year's finals. Cope had defeated Farrell Emerick in the semi-finals and Bolinger had won over Charles Lease. Edward G. Geis, fifth grade teacher, conducted the preliminary games and assisted Times-News tournament officials in the finals.

Clifton Turner won the Humbird School championship Monday afternoon and Robert Gray, a brother of the 1951 City champion Leroy Gray, was runnerup.

Each one of the 22 school champs will be awarded a Marbles Champion T-shirt and four movie tickets before the city finals get underway at 3:30 p. m. next Tuesday. Each runnerup will be given two movie tickets, but must be on hand next Tuesday at Gephart Playground to receive them.

Grove To Autograph Balls

The four semi-finalists next Tuesday will be given league baseballs autographed by Robert M. "Lefty" Grove. The runnerup in the finals gets $5 in cash.

Winner of the city championship will have all his expenses paid by the Times-News to the famous ocean resort of Asbury Park, N. J. to play in the National Marbles Tournament during the third week in June. He will live with marbles champions from all over the United States, all of them under 15 years of age. There will be a 50 mile trip to New York City on a big ship that will cross a section of the Atlantic Ocean and steam into New York harbor past the Statue of Liberty and the famous Manhattan skyline. There will be a trip through Fort Monmouth, and plenty of time to play on the white sand of the beaches and cool off in the salt spray of the ocean waves as they roll up on the smooth sand.

The marbles champs get free admission to movies, rides, games, miniature golf and swimming pools. They live at beautiful hotels and all eat in one big central dining room.

Officials Are Named

Next Tuesday's four referees will be William E. Kelly and Patrick A. Tierney, of the Times staff; Augustine Diaz, a teacher at Cresaptown, and Dr. Boyd A. Mertens, a former marbles champion. James E. Day, of the Times sports staff, will be chief scorekeeper, and ring scorers will be Bob Wolfe, Lowell Coates, Leroy Gray and Milton Stewart, all former champions. Ronnie Nield will be custodian of prizes. Aides will include Larry Rinker, James Wisenburg and Joe Rice. Wisenburg and Rice are former city champions.

Gehauf's Beats Old Germans

A wild pitch by Pitcher Wayne Lewis in the 7th inning enabled George McGregor to score from third with the winning run as Gehauf's Amoco tripped the Old German's, 8-7, in the lone City Softball League action yesterday.

The victors loaded the bases with two walks and a single before Lewis uncorked his wild pitch. George Harris socked two doubles to head the winners' assault while Don Basilio and Spier collected two singles each for the Old Gee's.

The win gave the Gassers a 3-4 league record while the loss dropped the Old Germans out of second place. The score:

Fairgo Races June 23-July 3 Are Approved By Commission

Tote Firm Assures Use Of Machines

BALTIMORE, May 25 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission gave the Cumberland half mile track permission again today to change its dates to June 23-July 3.

The commission first approved the shift from Aug. 4-14 yesterday and then suspended it to check a report that mutuel betting machinery wouldn't be available.

Bill Graham, secretary of the commission, announced today the American Totalisator Co. of Baltimore had assured the use of its machines.

"Pro"-Amateur Is Set For CCC

A special "Pro"-Amateur golf tournament, open to all golfing members will be held Sunday, May 30, by the Men's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club.

Low handicap players are designed as "pros" and their names will be posted in the locker room in the golf shop prior to the tournament. Each "pro" is allowed his full handicap.

Each "Pro" plays with three amateurs and three best-ball scores are turned in for each "pro"-amateur foursome — the "Pro" in combination with each of the amateurs with whom he is playing. The amateurs are allowed full handicaps.

All amateurs play against one another in a sweepstakes for net prizes. All the "pros" play against one another in a sweepstakes for net and gross prizes. Additional prizes will be added if the number of entries warrants such action.

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 25 — Outstanding athletes of Romney High School at the West Virginia School for the Deaf received memorial awards at the tenth annual banquet sponsored by Romney Lodge No. 1371, Loyal Order of Moose, at the Moose Home.

David Green, Romney High, earned the top basketball award, a gold wrist watch, also presented by the Moose Lodge. Roger Parker, runner-up, was the recipient of a pen and pencil set.

The gold wrist watch award, inaugurated by the Carlton Restaurant for the outstanding athlete at the West Virginia School for the Deaf went to Bradley Tuell. Charles Pyles, runner-up, was presented a pen and pencil set by the Moose Lodge.

A. C. Loy, superintendent of schools, headed a citizens' committee that raised funds for gold wrist watches that were presented to twelve Romney High School seniors.

Ralph Dusic, state director of Moose lodges, was master of ceremonies, and the principal speaker was Robert "Red" Brown, West Virginia University varisty basketball coach, who stressed the importance of schools and colleges running their own athletic programs and condemned interference from inexperienced outsiders.

One hundred and eighteen attended the awards dinner given in memory of three former Romney High athletes — Eugene Thorpe, William Pownall and Paul Harmison — who were killed in action in the Second World War.

Martinez And Davey Fight At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP)—In his first Chicago Stadium start since Kid Gavilan stopped him there 15 months ago, Chuck Davey meets Vince Martinez in a televised welterweight 10-rounder tomorrow night (9 p.m. EST).

An 7-5 underdog, Davey is risking the chance of ruining a big Los Angeles gate in a scheduled June 25 re-match with Art Aragon as he takes on sixth-ranked Martinez, beaten only three times in 36 bouts.

Martinez has flattened 20 opponents, five kayos coming in a current string of nine straight victories. The Paterson, N. J., belter is clamoring for a shot at Gavilan's welter crown.

Sentinels Take 2nd Place; LaSalle Beats Valley, 8-3

Fort Hill's Sentinels snapped the five-game winning streak of the Allegany High School yesterday by defeating the Campers at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-5.

The victory advanced Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation into the runner-up spot in the Bi-State race with a 9-3 record, one full game back of the front-running LaSalle Explorers who made it six in a row by whipping Valley High School at Barton by the score of 8-3.

Not only did Fort Hill crack the Campers' win string but the Hilltoppers halted the winning ways of Bobby Dawson, Allegany ace, who had bagged five decisions in a row and had posted a 7-1 record prior to yesterday's contest.

The loss was the sixth straight for Allegany in city competition since 1952. They dropped four in a row to local schools last year and two this season.

LaSalle and Fort Hill are now tied in the city race with 2-1 records.

Allegany was leading 5-4 in yesterday's game when the city series "jinx" put in its appearance in the final frame.

How Sentinels Won

Dawson issued his first pass of the game to Ronnie Lewis and the latter took second on Dorcil Kline's single. Both runners advanced a base on Freddie Wolford's sacrifice. E. McKenney bunted down the third base line, scoring Lewis with the run that knotted the score at 5-5. Harry Iser, Camper third sacker, fielded the ball, heaved it to first base, which was uncovered, and Kline raced home with the deciding tally.

Lefty Wayne Murray, who went all the way for Fort Hill, notched his fourth conference win of the season and having lost in his last two outings. He fanned seven, the same number of victims credited to Dawson.

Bob Kirtley belted a two-run homer for the Campers during a four-run explosion in the third inning. Galen McGregor and Dorcil Kline smacked triples for the Sentinels and Harry Hixenbaugh rapped a double for AHS to account for the other extra base wallops. Hixenbaugh and Kirtley drove in four of the losers' five runs.

Joe Conroy Wins Third

Joe Conroy notched his third win of the campaign in LaSalle's triumph at Barton. He gained the verdict over Rich Waddell, Valley High basketball star who was sidelined most of the 1953-54 cage campaign due to a foot injury, and was pitching his first full game for Johnny Meyers' Black Knights.

LaSalle scored seven of its eight runs in the first three innings. Barney Spearman paced the Explorers at the plate with a triple and two singles and Harold Hudson had two hits. Robertson, Cuthbertson and Brown had two blows each for Valley High.

Conroy and Waddell yielded eight hits each. Waddell fanned seven and Conroy 5.

Two Games Set Today

LaSalle seeks its third win in as many days when it faces Mt. Savage today at the latter place. Fort Hill is also in action for the third straight day, being scheduled to play Hyndman High on the Pennsylvanians' field.

Braves Extend String

CINCINNATI, May 25 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves chalked up their eighth straight victory tonight, downing the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Warren Spahn, who homered in an insurance run.

Hank Aaron smashed a home run in the same inning with Joe Adcock aboard to give the Braves a full game lead in the National League.

Psychiatric Coincidence

There is a play running on Broadway called "Oh, Men! Oh, Women!" (the most exclamatory title to come along in years) in which a psychiatrist, interviewing a patient about an affair he'd once had with a girl, discovers the girl in question is his own fiancee. This is stretching the long arm of coincidence a considerable distance but, once you swallow this particular bit, you'll find it's a very funny play.

This stretching of coincidence to the breaking point on a psychiatrist's couch has now been done again—and I don't expect this will be the last we'll see of it either—on a TV play called "The End of Paul Dane" on the U. S. Steel Hour (ABC-TV 9:30 p. m. EST Tuesdays). In this one, a psychiatrist is awakened in the middle of the night by an hysterical woman patient who fears she's about to be killed. The next morning an amnesia victim drops into the psychiatrist's office and tells him he has an over-powering urge to kill somebody but he doesn't know who.

Right away you begin to suspect that boy is out to kill girl, which is the modern day twist of an ancient formula, and you are right. Frankly, I think that is carrying coincidence just a little too far but it does set up a nice melodramatic situation—if you like psychiatry.

I can take psychiatry or leave it alone and I was especially happy to find that the psychiatrist's wife seems to share my feelings. She had no hesitation in expressing distaste for middle-of-the-night phone calls and, when the girl on the other end stated her fears that a man was trying to get into her room, she won my undying admiration by telling her husband: "I'd have told her to call the police. But I suppose that's old-fashioned, pre-Freudian." I don't know how a girl like that ever got married to a psychiatrist in the first place.

The bulk of the play was devoted to a psychiatric race to plumb the subconscious of both potential murderer and potential murderee to get at the root of this homicidal instinct. The potential killer, we were made aware, was once married to the potential victim and has never forgiven her for leaving him. However, his real resentment—it will come as no surprise to any of you—was directed at his mother who had left him at an early age. When he discovered the real cause of his resentment, the urge to kill disappeared and the pair wound up in each other's arms, a fairly simple-minded and pat conclusion which may well have exasperated all the watching psychiatrists whose own patients, I'm sure, don't emerge from their neuroses quite so easily.

However, "The End of Paul Dane" was an interesting exhibit of technical virtuosity on the part of director Alex Segal. Segal jumped back and forth between the subconscious of his two principal neurotics in rapid fashion in a style reminiscent of the movies. It was very competent staging and the acting of Theresa Wright as the over-wrought girl, Robert Preston as the psychiatrist, Warren Stevens as the potential murderer, and Rusty Lane as a singularly broad-minded cop, were first-rate, though I don't know what I ever heard of a psychiatrist who bullied his patients quite so mercilessly. Also, I was slightly amused at the idea of the tune "It's Easy to Remember" as a background tune for a play about an amnesia victim.

At the end of a three-way filmed phone discussion between politics in Paris, London and Washington concerning the Indochina situation, Sen. Knowland, the only American involved, said: "I wish programs of this kind could be heard each week. I think they would be very beneficial to all countries."

I wish they could, too. It was a very enlightening 13 minutes with the Briton Sir Robert Boothby being terribly British ("Alliances have seldom lasted in peacetime but this one's damned well got to last!"), the Frenchman Hettier de Bois-Lambert being terribly French ("You have deeply hurt our feelings.") and the American senator being terribly American ("Indochina is the cork to the bottle.")

The fears and prejudices of each country made a lot of sense when expressed by the various countrymen and I can't think of a better way to spread international understanding than this.

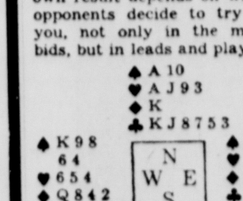
Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

YOU CAN'T HELP IT

IT IS undeniable that in the long run, duplicate bridge—in which everybody meets the same deals as the others—will produce a truer test of skill than rubber bridge. But there is no point in insisting that it eliminates all of the luck. There are many kinds of situations in which the sound bid or play turns out unfortunately, and others in which your own result depends on what your opponents decide to try against you, not only in the matter of bids, but in leads and plays.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠
4 ♥	4 ♠	5 ♥	Pass
6 ♥	6 ♠	Dbl.

That is only one version of the bidding on this duplicate deal, which in its early stages was handled about the same at all tables. In the late rounds, however, there were wide variations. One pair was allowed to play at 6-Hearts, making it with the loss of only a diamond trick. Some went down several at 6-Spades doubled and some tried 6-No Trumps in the North over that bid.

Now for the funny results. The top North-South score came where North tried 6-No Trumps, expecting either a spade lead or a possible lower-than-ace diamond, in which case the K could win. It did after East opened the 6—very bad bridge against a slam—the result being all thirteen tricks for North. The North-South bottom came from the same contract, when East laid down the diamond A at the start, then ran the rest of the suit.

In a few cases, the 6-No-Trumps bid by North lured West into a 7-Spades sacrifice. Indeed, there were almost as many different results on this deal as there were tables in play. It was a social contest, in which you ordinarily expect a wide assortment of contracts with such a deal. But it also could produce a variegated array of results among players of the highest grade of skill.

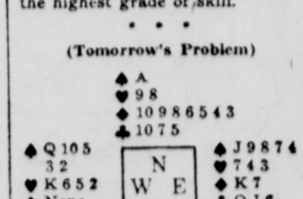
(Tomorrow's Problem)



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

22 School Champs Qualify For Area Marbles Finals

Officials Named; Bolinger Victory Winds Up Prelims

With the victory yesterday at Centre Street of Terry Bolinger all 22 schools, public and parochial, have completed their individual marbles tournaments in preparation for the Cumberland area finals next Tuesday, June 1, at 3:30 p. m. in the model rings at Gephart Playground, Frederick street.

Bolinger, last year's runnerup at Centre Street, shot his way through more than a half hundred contenders to face David Cope in this year's finals. Cope had defeated Farrell Emerick in the semi-finals and Bolinger had won over Charles Lease. Edward G. Geis, fifth grade teacher, conducted the preliminary games and assisted Times-News tournament officials in the finals.

Clifton Turner won the Humbird School championship Monday afternoon and Robert Gray, a brother of the 1951 City champion Leroy Gray, was runnerup.

Each one of the 22 school champs will be awarded a Marbles Champion T-shirt and four movie tickets before the city finals get underway at 3:30 p. m. next Tuesday. Each runnerup will be given two movie tickets, but must be on hand next Tuesday at Gephart Playground to receive them.

Grove To Autograph Balls

The four semi-finalists next Tuesday will be given league baseballs autographed by Robert M. "Lefty" Grove. The runnerup in the finals gets $5 in cash.

Winner of the city championship will have all his expenses paid by the Times-News to the famous ocean resort of Asbury Park, N. J. to play in the National Marbles Tournament during the third week in June. He will live with marbles champions from all over the United States, all of them under 15 years of age. There will be a 50 mile trip to New York City on a big ship that will cross a section of the Atlantic Ocean and steam into New York harbor past the Statue of Liberty and the famous Manhattan skyline. There will be a trip through Fort Monmouth, and plenty of time to play on the white sand of the beaches and cool off in the salt spray of the ocean waves as they roll up on the smooth sand.

The marbles champs get free admission to movies, rides, games, miniature golf and swimming pools. They live at beautiful hotels and all eat in one big central dining room.

Officials Are Named

Next Tuesday's four referees will be William E. Kelly and Patrick A. Tierney, of the Times staff; Augustine Diaz, a teacher at Cresaptown, and Dr. Boyd A. Mertens, a former marbles champion. James E. Day, of the Times sports staff, will be chief scorekeeper, and ring scorers will be Bob Wolfe, Lowell Coates, Leroy Gray and Milton Stewart, all former champions. Ronnie Nield will be custodian of prizes. Aides will include Larry Rinker, James Wisenburg and Joe Rice. Wisenburg and Rice are former city champions.

Gehauf's Beats Old Germans

A wild pitch by Pitcher Wayne Lewis in the 7th inning enabled George McGregor to score from third with the winning run as Gehauf's Amoco tripped the Old German's, 8-7, in the lone City Softball League action yesterday.

The victors loaded the bases with two walks and a single before Lewis uncorked his wild pitch. George Harris socked two doubles to head the winners' assault while Don Basilio and Spier collected two singles each for the Old Gee's.

The win gave the Gassers a 3-4 league record while the loss dropped the Old Germans out of second place. The score:

Radio And Television

Psychiatric Coincidence

There is a play running on Broadway called "Oh, Men! Oh, Women!" (the most exclamatory title to come along in years) in which a psychiatrist, interviewing a patient about an affair he'd once had with a girl, discovers the girl in question is his own fiancee. This is stretching the long arm of coincidence a considerable distance but, once you swallow this particular bit, you'll find it's a very funny play.

This stretching of coincidence to the breaking point on a psychiatrist's couch has now been done again—and I don't expect this will be the last we'll see of it either—on a TV play called "The End of Paul Dane" on the U. S. Steel Hour (ABC-TV 9:30 p. m. EST Tuesdays). In this one, a psychiatrist is awakened in the middle of the night by an hysterical woman patient who fears she's about to be killed. The next morning an amnesia victim drops into the psychiarist's office and tells him he has an over-powering urge to kill somebody but he doesn't know who.

Right away you begin to suspect that boy is out to kill girl, which is the modern day twist of an ancient formula, and you are right. Frankly, I think that is carrying coincidence just a little too far but it does set up a nice melodramatic situation—if you like psychiatry.

I can take psychiatry or leave it alone and I was especially happy to find that the psychiatrist's wife seems to share my feelings. She had no hesitation in expressing distaste for middle-of-the-night phone calls and, when the girl on the other end stated her fears that a man was trying to get into her room, she won my undying admiration by telling her husband: "I'd have told her to call the police. But I suppose that's old-fashioned, pre-Freudian." I don't know how a girl like that ever got married to a psychiatrist in the first place.

The bulk of the play was devoted to a psychiatric race to plumb the subconscious of both potential murderer and potential murderee to get at the root of this homicidal instinct. The potential killer, we were made aware, was once married to the potential victim and has never forgiven her for leaving him. However, his real resentment—it will come as no surprise to any of you—was directed at his mother who had left him at an early age. When he discovered the real cause of his resentment, the urge to kill disappeared and the pair wound up in each other's arms, a fairly simple-minded and pat conclusion which may well have exasperated all the watching psychiatrists whose own patients, I'm sure, don't emerge from their neuroses quite so easily.

However, "The End of Paul Dane" was an interesting exhibit of technical virtuosity on the part of director Alex Segal. Segal jumped back and forth between the subconscious of his two principal neurotics in rapid fashion in a style reminiscent of the movies. It was very competent staging and the acting of Theresa Wright as the over-wrought girl, Robert Preston as the psychiatrist, Warren Stevens as the potential murderer, and Rusty Lane as a singularly broad-minded cop, were first-rate, though I don't know what I ever heard of a psychiatrist who bullied his patients quite so mercilessly. Also, I was slightly amused at the idea of the tune "It's Easy to Remember" as a background tune for a play about an amnesia victim.

At the end of a three-way filmed phone discussion between politics in Paris, London and Washington concerning the Indochina situation, Sen. Knowland, the only American involved, said: "I wish programs of this kind could be heard each week. I think they would be very beneficial to all countries."

I wish they could, too. It was a very enlightening 13 minutes with the Briton Sir Robert Boothby being terribly British ("Alliances have seldom lasted in peacetime but this one's damned well got to last!"), the Frenchman Hettier de Bois-Lambert being terribly French ("You have deeply hurt our feelings.") and the American senator being terribly American ("Indochina is the cork to the bottle.")

The fears and prejudices of each country made a lot of sense when expressed by the various countrymen and I can't think of a better way to spread international understanding than this.

Daily Bridge Lesson

YOU CAN'T HELP IT

IT IS undeniable that in the long run, duplicate bridge—in which everybody meets the same deals as the others—will produce a truer test of skill than rubber bridge. But there is no point in insisting that it eliminates all of the luck. There are many kinds of situations in which the sound bid or play turns out unfortunately, and others in which your own result depends on what your opponents decide to try against you, not only in the matter of bids, but in leads and plays.

	♠ A 10 ♥ A J 9 3 ♦ K ♣ K J 8 7 5 3
♠ K 9 8 6 4 ♥ 6 5 4 ♦ Q 8 4 2 ♣ 4	N W E S	♠ Q J 5 3 2 ♥ 8 ♦ A J 9 6 3 ♣ 10 6
	♠ 7 ♥ K Q 10 7 2 ♦ 10 7 5 ♣ A Q 9 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠
4 ♥	4 ♠	5 ♥	Pass
6 ♥	6 ♠	Dbl.

That is only one version of the bidding on this duplicate deal, which in its early stages was handled about the same at all tables. In the late rounds, however, there were wide variations. One pair was allowed to play at 6-Hearts, making it with the loss of only a diamond trick. Some went down several at 6-Spades doubled and some tried 6-No Trumps in the North over that bid.

Now for the funny results. The top North-South score came where North tried 6-No Trumps, expecting either a spade lead or a possible lower-than-ace diamond, in which case the K could win. It did after East opened the 6—very bad bridge against a slam—the result being all thirteen tricks for North. The North-South bottom came from the same contract, when East laid down the diamond A at the start, then ran the rest of the suit.

In a few cases, the 6-No-Trumps bid by North lured West into a 7-Spades sacrifice. Indeed, there were almost as many different results on this deal as there were tables in play. It was a social contest, in which you ordinarily expect a wide assortment of contracts with such a deal. But it also could produce a variegated array of results among players of the highest grade of skill.

(Tomorrow's Problem)

	♠ A ♥ 9 8 ♦ 10 9 8 6 5 4 3 ♣ 10 7 5
♠ Q 10 5 3 2 ♥ K 6 5 2 ♦ None ♣ 9 8 4 2	N W E S	♠ J 9 8 7 4 ♥ 7 4 3 ♦ K 7 ♣ Q J 6
	♠ K 6 ♥ A Q J 10 ♦ A Q J 2 ♣ A K 3

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

If North sees fit to open this deal with 3-Diamonds, which East passes, what would you do in the South?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Kelly Will Build Truck Tires For Army Ordnance

Plant Is Awarded $1,236,951 Contract

The Army Ordnance Corps yesterday awarded a $1,236,951.96 contract to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company of Cumberland.

One other contract was let yesterday by Army Ordnance. The McCreary Tire and Rubber Company of Jeannette, Pa., received a $167,280 order for additional military tires.

Brig. Gen. Gerson K. Heiss, commanding general of the Ordnance Tank-Automobile Center in Detroit, said the contracts were let in connection with the policy of awarding contracts in areas where more than seven per cent of the working force is unemployed.

Ordnance officials said yesterday's awards, plus $1,069,671 of work given last week to the U. S. Rubber Company, of Detroit, brings recent allocations of tire contracts to distressed areas to the $2,473,902 mark.

Kelly officials were unable last night to estimate the impact of the military order, but expressed pleasure at the award, saying they were glad for the extra work.

Board Will Name New Head For Teacher College

The State Board of Education is expected to select a new president for Frostburg State Teachers College at its meeting today in Baltimore.

The presidency of the Western Maryland college must be filled within the next year due to the coming resignation of Miss Lillian C. Compton, who has headed the institution for almost 10 years.

William A. Gunter, a member of the state board, will leave here this morning for the meeting which is to begin at 2 p. m.

Among the business scheduled is a report of a sub-committee named to select a new president for Frostburg State Teachers College.

The report has been prepared by Gunter, Mrs. Ruth McCormick Tankersley and J. Jerome Frampton Jr. Selections of the new president is expected to follow the reading of the report.

Gunter said the sub-committee has had two meetings in Baltimore and one in Cumberland, and has interviewed about six persons in connection with the preparation of the report.

Baptist Minister Is On Tour Of Near East And Holy Land

The pastor of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church of Frostburg, Rev. Willis E. Dewberry, is taking part in an eight-week study tour of the Holy Land and other Near Eastern countries. A member of a party of seminary professors and ministers, Rev. Dewberry left New York City by plane last Friday.

The study and research group is headed by Dr. William H. Morton, professor of Biblical Archaeology at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky.

The group plans to make on-the-site studies and observations of important Biblical locations. One of the projects to be undertaken is the study of the ancient city of Jericho. There are three Jerichos, Rev. Dewberry noted in discussing the trip, and students of antiquity are not agreed on which one is referred to in the Biblical account that Jericho fell to the Israelites under the leadership of Joshua, during the early conquest of Canaan.

Dr. Morton, who has led a number of such expeditions to Palestine and the Near East, plans to remain in the Holy Land for a year. He has been appointed director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem for the academic year 1954-55. He will have an active part in the direction of the excavations to be made on the site of the ancient cities of Jericho.

The tour will include, after stops at Newfoundland, and the Azores Islands, such countries as Spain, Portugal, a number of colonies in North Africa, Egypt, where the pyramids and the Sphinx will be visited; Lebanon, Syria, the city of Damascus, Palestine, with headquarters at Jerusalem.

On the return trip, it is planned to visit Italy, Greece, most of the West European countries, with a conference at the Baptist Theological Seminary at Zurich, Switzerland.

Some 20 countries will be visited in the tour, in about 50 days.

The pulpit at the Welsh Baptist Church is being filled during Rev. Dewberry's absence by supply pastors, and all Sunday and midweek services will continue on schedule.

Rev. Dewberry said he hopes to be back in his pulpit by the second Sunday in July.

Schools Observe Ascension Day

All parochial schools in Cumberland will be closed tomorrow in observance of Ascension Day but not all of them will have a holiday Monday for Memorial Day.

At St. Mary's School there will be holidays both tomorrow and Monday. Between the holidays will be the commencement program Sunday night at the church where eight girl graduates will get their diplomas. Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will address the graduates.

St. Patrick's School and Girls Central Catholic High School will be closed four successive days, beginning with Ascension Day, but will be open Monday.

LaSalle High School will be closed only for the Ascension Day observance tomorrow. Ursuline Academy and SS. Peter and Paul's School will be closed both tomorrow and Monday.

Meanwhile, all public schools in Allegany County will be closed Monday in observance of the long Memorial Day holiday.

350 Assessment Review Notices Distributed

Some 350 letters notifying property owners in Election District No. 8, embracing Westernport and Luke, have been mailed out under the signature of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Board of County Commissioners.

In most of the cases, the letter from Stevenson stated that the assessment on property has been reviewed and the assessment has been affirmed. In a few cases the assessment has been lowered.

Deadline For Registration 4 Days Away

Only four days remain for citizens of Allegany County to register so they can vote in the June 28 state and county primary election.

Yesterday only 12 prospective new voters came to the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement. Eight were Republicans and four Democrats.

During these final four days residents may register at any of five places, the Court House, the town halls of Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport and the community building of Mt. Savage. At the Court House the hours will be 9 a. m. until noon, 1 until 4 p. m. and 6 until 9 p. m. today, tomorrow and Friday. On Saturday the office will be open only from 9 a. m. until noop.

In the other four communities—Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing and Westernport — the registrars will sit from 1 until 5 p. m. and again from 6 until 8 p. m. today, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Newcomers who will have lived in Allegany County one year before November 2, 1954, may register now and vote in the primary. Similarly, anyone who will have reached the age of 21 before November 2, 1954, may register now and vote in the primary. The other group of registrants includes those whose names have been removed from the poll books for failure to vote in five years, since the November 1948 election.

Nuzum Attends SRC Meeting

Cumberland's participation in the Crosstown Expressway project was discussed at a meeting of the Maryland State Roads Commission in Baltimore yesterday.

Cumberland was represented at the meeting by Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the State Roads Commission asked the city to send a representative to the meeting which was to include a discussion on what the City of Cumberland will be expected to do in connection with the traffic plan.

The big project, estimated to cost over $8,000,000, is included in the SRC's 12-year road improvement program.

One of the points which has never been made clear is just what the city's obligation would be if the project goes through.

Norman Pritchett, chief engineer of the SRC, said some months ago that the State Roads Commission was working on a plan for local participation which would be favorable to cities, including Cumberland.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Albertus J. Oxendine vs. Nadine M. Oxendine.

Teachers Study Techniques Of Papier-Mache

Group Attending Art Workshop

Teachers from three local elementary schools are completing an in-service art workshop in which they have been concentrating on papier-mache techniques and paper construction, according to Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in Allegany County public schools.

The teachers, from Columbia Street, Centre Street and Gephart schools, have been meeting biweekly since February at Columbia Street.

This workshop technique has been used with elementary teachers in Allegany County this school year to cover art areas as drawing and painting, paper sculpture, wire sculpture, finger painting, Christmas crafts, clay work, fundamentals of design, and media experiences.

Foote reports that the same type of workshops will be continued with elementary teachers next year.

An exhibit featuring the wide variety of dogs, horses, ducks and many other figures made by the versatile teachers is being featured this week in the lobby of the Board of Education Building on Washington Street.

Mt. Savage Man Renews Complaint Concerning Sewer

J. F. Gallagher of Mt. Savage, who sent the Board of County Commissioners a letter April 25 complaining about an open sewer in front of the Methodist Church and St. Patrick's Hall in Mt. Savage, has renewed his complaint with a second letter read at yesterday's meeting of the commissioners.

The Mt. Savage man said that when his first letter was read at a meeting of the commissioners it was reported to the Cumberland newspapers that the matter was being referred to the county roads supervisor.

"To date I have not seen your engineer and I know the sewer has not been repaired," Gallagher wrote. "Since I reported same I have seen three cars drop into this sewer and one car belonged to a Cumberland attorney. What bothers me is that the condition may cause a bad accident and then it will be too late."

WM Workers Plan Trip To Elkins

Hagerstown Group To Travel June 26

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 25 (AP)—About 500 Western Maryland Railway workers are going to take a busman's holiday next month on a one-day round-trip excursion train from Hagerstown to Elkins, W. Va.

Emory Wolfe, president of the Western Maryland Railway Employes Social Club, said the trip was planned because of the "terrific response" when a similar one was offered last fall.

This year, he said, there will be a second outing in August, to Baltimore for an inspection of the railroad's big marine terminal at Port Covington and a tour of Baltimore harbor.

The trip to Elkins on June 26 will include side trips from there to Mouth of Seneca Trail and from Davis, W. Va., to Blackwater Falls Canyon.

Wolfe said Western Maryland employes will get first call on tickets and if there are any left over some may be sold to the public.

The Western Maryland no longer operates a passenger service from Hagerstown to Elkins, but the route includes some of its most beautiful scenery. Some of its most spectacular railroad operations, involving movement of heavy coal trains through the rugged mountains, also are in this territory.

Phone Service Expansion Set At Lonaconing

Additional telephone service will be provided in Lonaconing this year with the placement of 6.5 miles of aerial cable and 48 poles at an expenditure of some $37,000.

F. H. Koontz, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company office in Lonaconing said the additional line will be put into service in the latter part of this year.

The project, which will care for held applications, regrades and rural line relief and growth, was recently authorized by the telephone company's Board of Directors in Baltimore.

The total amount authorized by the Board during the May meeting was $954,000—part of the $30,000,000 service expansion and improvement program planned for Maryland in 1954.

Fund Controls Tightened On Magistrates

Deposit Rules Effective July 1

Tighter restrictions on the fines, forfeitures, penalties and costs collected by Maryland magistrates for motor vehicle law violations will become effective July 1, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Thomas B. R. Mudd informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Chapter 26 of the Acts of the General Assembly for 1954 provides changes in Section 99 and 112 of the Motor Vehicle Laws.

Section 99 provides:

Must Use Bank Account

"Every trial magistrate shall promptly deposit in a bank or banks as specified by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles in an account or accounts opened in his official capacity, all fines, forfeitures, penalties and costs imposed and collected by him in cases involving violation of motor vehicle laws. All money so deposited shall be subject only to the order of such trial magistrate or his lawfully constituted successor in office for the purpose of remitting to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles the money so collected and deposited.' "

Section 112 reads in part:

"The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles may by regulation require the several trial magistrates to give such additional bonds as in his determination shall be advisable or necessary in relation to the amount of fines, forfeitures, penalties and costs imposed and collected by the magistrates in cases involving violation of motor vehicle laws . . ."

New Bonds Set Up

Commissioner Mudd also informed the county commissioners that his office has established the additional bonds, effective July 1, at $10,000 each for the two Cumberland magistrates and $5,000 each for the two Frostburg magistrates and $5,000 for the magistrates of Oldtown, Barton, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing, Cresaptown, Midland, Westernport and Flintstone.

In other action yesterday the county commissioners concurred with the State Roads Commission in the acceptance of the $260,694.03 bid submitted by the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, Inc., for relocating and improving the Mt. Savage School Road. The State Roads Commission reported that the low bid was $20,394.17 under the state's estimate.

The SRC has figured total cost of the road job at $286,763.43 with the addition of $26,069.40 for inspection, engineering, administration and general expenses. The county's share of the total cost will be $143,413.43, with the other $143,340 coming from federal aid secondary road funds.

Labor Says It Has Issued No Unsigned Political Letters

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference announced yesterday it has issued no literature concerning the coming city elections.

William G. Rice, president of the conference representing AFL, CIO, Railroad and Independent Unions, said the only communications it has issued were personal letters sent yesterday to candidates, notifying them they have been endorsed by the Unity Conference.

He said the conference will issue no publicity concerning the endorsements and that candidates are free to make use of the backing, but are under no obligation at all to do so.

The conference, Rice said, will work wholeheartedly with any candidate it endorses, but will not publish any anonymous literature concerning any candidate.

He said incorrect statements have been made that the conference has put out literature pertaining to the present city council.

'Open House' Planned At Parsonage

The congregation of Emmanuel Methodist Church will hold "open house" in the new parsonage Saturday from 3 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The parsonage was completed and occupied on April 17. The new structure contains seven rooms, a study and bath.

Clyde Slider was general contractor for the project which offers more advantageous dwelling facilities for the pastor and family.

The large basement will be used to house some of the Sunday School classes which need more space because of the growth of the Sunday School.

The Youth Fellowship of the church will use the basement for its meetings and activities. Ministers and congregations of the Cumberland area are invited to attend, according to Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor.

Friends and neighbors of the congregation are also included in the invitation to the "open house" in the parsonage located on Humbird Street.

Speedy Probe Is Sought By Commissioner

A speedup in the investigation of business transactions between the Allegany County Commissioners and the Commercial Press is being sought by Commissioner James Orr, who is an officer in the firm.

Orr has written a letter to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher concerning the investigation, which he said had been under way for several weeks.

Orr wrote: "During the past several weeks, investigators from your office have been gathering information from the business records of the Commercial Press, which I have heard is in accordance with a recommendation of the April grand jury relative to the transactions.

"As you know, I am an officer, shop manager and stockholder in this company. As one of the commissioners of Allegany County, I would like to have this investigation completed as soon as possible; and I want to extend to you and your investigators my full and complete cooperation in furnishing any and all information from the records of the Commercial Press.

"When your investigation is completed, if your office is of the opinion that there is sufficient evidence to warrant your taking action against me in connection with any of these business transactions, I would greatly appreciate it if you would promptly have a warrant issued charging me with whatever offense I may have committed.

"In order to save time and public expense, I will file a petition with the Circuit Court for Allegany County waiving indictment by the grand jury, and requesting that an information be prepared and filed by the state's attorney's office charging me with whatever offense may be involved.

"The Circuit Court will then be in a position to pass on the matter of my guilt or innocence without delay."

Fletcher said he had been requested by the April grand jury to make the investigation and that it had been under way for some time. He added that the probe will be completed within a few days and a decision in the matter can then be made.

Fellowship To Stage "Womanless Wedding"

Incumbents Lead In Early Returns At Westernport

62.5 Per Cent Of Voters Go To Polls

Westernport's Mayor Okey E. Michael and his slate of town council candidates were running well ahead early this morning in the biennial general election, but only a few more than a third of the ballots had been counted.

At 12:15 a. m., election officials had managed to tabulate only 394 of the 1,063 ballots which were cast in yesterday's election. The turnout represented 62.5 per cent of the registered voters. The 1952 turnout was 1,207.

Results unofficially tabulated at the City Hall polling place early this morning showed these results:

FOR MAYOR

Okey E. Michael	264
Harry Welsh	130

FOR COUNCIL

Harry Richards	288
Ray L. Wilt	278
William LaFon	262
Carl McMillen	242
L. C. Lambert	132
Adam F. Zais	131
Hudson L. Chaney	117
Robert R. Stultz	81

All four of the top men in the race early this morning were running mates of Mayor Michael. Richards, Wilt and LaFon are incumbents, along with Michael, but McMillen is a newcomer.

Over 1,800 Get Chest X-Rays As Survey Opens

Chest X-rays have been given to almost 1,800 students in Cumberland during the first three days of the mobile unit's visit to Allegany County.

Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association, said X-rays taken Friday, Monday and yesterday totaled 1,811, and that all but 36 of the persons participating were students in Cumberland schools.

Fort Hill High School, visited yesterday, led with 718 participants. Other totals included 577 at Allegany High School, 62 at Carver School, 57 at St. Mary's High School, 211 at Girls Central and LaSalle high schools, and 148 at SS. Peter and Paul's and Ursuline Academy.

In Garrett County, a total of 1,954 free chest X-rays were taken during the annual visit held May 6 to 20. Participation was slightly up from 1953's 1,852, but less than expected.

The mobile unit will be in Mt. Savage today. It will be stationed at Mt. Savage School from 1 to 2:50 p.m. and at the Mt. Savage health center from 3 to 7 p.m.

Beall Arrested In Embezzlement

Edward T. Beall, who resided here several years, and former city manager of Portsmouth, Ohio, was arrested Saturday on an indictment charging him with embezzlement.

Beall, under suspension as county manager of Montgomery County, Maryland is expected to arrange bond for his release pending a plea to the indictment.

Beall was assistant superintendent of the personnel department at Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation between 1944 and 1946.

He was arrested by Sheriff Burl E. Justice at Ashland, Ky., 30 miles from Portsmouth, on a writ resulting from an indictment Friday afternoon by the Scioto County (Ohio) grand jury.

The indictment charged Beall with embezzlement of $738.81 in receipts at Portsmouth Cenral Hospital, May 23, 1952, during a period when he was city manager and in direct charge of the hospital in the absence of a hospital director.

The jury action came at the conclusion of a three-day inquiry into a report by state examiners which brought six findings for recovery against Beall totalling $2,458.

The Weather

The weatherman did well yesterday in providing Cumberland and area residents with a fine spring day as the mercury climbed to 80 degrees. It was shirtsleeve weather as topcoats were put back into moth balls. The official high was 80 degrees with a low reading of 51 degrees. At 8:45 p. m. the temperature was 68 degrees and humidity at 6 p. m. was 27 per cent. Early yesterday .02 inches of rain fell in the city. Forecast for today is cloudy and cooler.

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Stocks fell off moderately today in a subdued market, and the action was marked by a late rally among many leaders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 50 cents at $124.80. The fall was not very great, but it was the most registered for the past two weeks. Yesterday it was off 10 cents. It now stands only a shade under the high of the year and the best in the past 24 years.

The industrial component of the average declined $1.00 and the rails lost 40 cents. Utilities, however, closed unchanged.

Business again crossed the two million mark by a small margin at 2,050,000 shares.

American Woolen was the day's most active issue up 2⅛ at 22⅝ on 43,200 shares. Textron, which owns around 300,000 shares of Woolen common, offered to buy 100,000 shares at $23 a share. Textron held unchanged at 8¾.

International Telephone was the second most active unchanged at 18½. The Frisco Railroad came next up ⅜ at 26⅞.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Kelly Will Build Truck Tires For Army Ordnance

Plant Is Awarded $1,236,951 Contract

One other contract was let yesterday by Army Ordnance. The McCreary Tire and Rubber Company of Jeannette, Pa., received a $167,280 order for additional military tires.

Brig. Gen. Gerson K. Heiss, commanding general of the Ordnance Tank-Automobile Center in Detroit, said the contracts were let in connection with the policy of awarding contracts in areas where more than seven per cent of the working force is unemployed.

Ordnance officials said yesterday's awards, plus $1,069,671 of work given last week to the U. S. Rubber Company, of Detroit, brings recent allocations of tire contracts to distressed areas to the $2,473,902 mark.

Kelly officials were unable last night to estimate the impact of the military order, but expressed pleasure at the award, saying they were glad for the extra work.

Baptist Minister Is On Tour Of Near East And Holy Land

The pastor of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church of Frostburg, Rev. Willis E. Dewberry, is taking part in an eight-week study tour of the Holy Land and other Near Eastern countries. A member of a party of seminary professors and ministers, Rev. Dewberry left New York City by plane last Friday.

The study and research group is headed by Dr. William H. Morton, professor of Biblical Archaeology at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky.

The group plans to make on-the-site studies and observations of important Biblical locations. One of the projects to be undertaken is the study of the ancient city of Jericho. There are three Jerichos, Rev. Dewberry noted in discussing the trip, and students of antiquity are not agreed on which one is referred to in the Biblical account that Jericho fell to the Israelites under the leadership of Joshua, during the early conquest of Canaan.

Dr. Morton, who has led a number of such expeditions to Palestine and the Near East, plans to remain in the Holy Land for a year. He has been appointed director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem for the academic year 1954-55. He will have an active part in the direction of the excavations to be made on the site of the ancient cities of Jericho.

The tour will include, after stops at Newfoundland, and the Azores Islands, such countries as Spain, Portugal, a number of colonies in North Africa, Egypt, where the pyramids and the Sphinx will be visited; Lebanon, Syria, the city of Damascus, Palestine, with headquarters at Jerusalem.

On the return trip, it is planned to visit Italy, Greece, most of the West European countries, with a conference at the Baptist Theological Seminary at Zurich, Switzerland.

Some 20 countries will be visited in the tour, in about 50 days.

The pulpit at the Welsh Baptist Church is being filled during Rev. Dewberry's absence by supply pastors, and all Sunday and midweek services will continue on schedule.

Rev. Dewberry said he hopes to be back in his pulpit by the second Sunday in July.

Deadline For Registration 4 Days Away

Only four days remain for citizens of Allegany County to register so they can vote in the June 28 state and county primary election.

Yesterday only 12 prospective new voters came to the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement. Eight were Republicans and four Democrats.

During these final four days residents may register at any of five places, the Court House, the town halls of Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport and the community building of Mt. Savage. At the Court House the hours will be 9 a. m. until noon, 1 until 4 p. m. and 6 until 9 p. m. today, tomorrow and Friday. On Saturday the office will be open only from 9 a. m. until noon.

In the other four communities—Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing and Westernport — the registrars will sit from 1 until 5 p. m. and again from 6 until 8 p. m. today, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Newcomers who will have lived in Allegany County one year before November 2, 1954, may register now and vote in the primary. Similarly, anyone who will have reached the age of 21 before November 2, 1954, may register now and vote in the primary. The other group of registrants includes those whose names have been removed from the poll books for failure to vote in five years, since the November 1948 election.

350 Assessment Review Notices Distributed

Some 350 letters notifying property owners in Election District No. 8, embracing Westernport and Luke, have been mailed out under the signature of James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Board of County Commissioners.

In most of the cases, the letter from Stevenson stated that the assessment on property has been reviewed and the assessment has been affirmed. In a few cases the assessment has been lowered.

Teachers Study Techniques Of Papier-Mache

Group Attending Art Workshop

Teachers from three local elementary schools are completing an in-service art workshop in which they have been concentrating on papier-mache techniques and paper construction, according to Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in Allegany County public schools.

The teachers, from Columbia Street, Centre Street and Gephart schools, have been meeting biweekly since February at Columbia Street.

This workshop technique has been used with elementary teachers in Allegany County this school year to cover art areas as drawing and painting, paper sculpture, wire sculpture, finger painting, Christmas crafts, clay work, fundamentals of design, and media experiences.

Foote reports that the same type of workshops will be continued with elementary teachers next year.

An exhibit featuring the wide variety of dogs, horses, ducks and many other figures made by the versatile teachers is being featured this week in the lobby of the Board of Education Building on Washington Street.

Mt. Savage Man Renews Complaint Concerning Sewer

J. F. Gallagher of Mt. Savage, who sent the Board of County Commissioners a letter April 25 complaining about an open sewer in front of the Methodist Church and St. Patrick's Hall in Mt. Savage, has renewed his complaint with a second letter read at yesterday's meeting of the commissioners.

The Mt. Savage man said that when his first letter was read at a meeting of the commissioners it was reported to the Cumberland newspapers that the matter was being referred to the county roads supervisor.

"To date I have not seen your engineer and I know the sewer has not been repaired," Gallagher wrote. "Since I reported same I have seen three cars drop into this sewer and one car belonged to a Cumberland attorney. What bothers me is that the condition may cause a bad accident and then it will be too late."

Nuzum Attends SRC Meeting

Cumberland's participation in the Crosstown Expressway project was discussed at a meeting of the Maryland State Roads Commission in Baltimore yesterday.

Cumberland was represented at the meeting by Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the State Roads Commission asked the city to send a representative to the meeting which was to include a discussion on what the City of Cumberland will be expected to do in connection with the traffic plan.

The big project, estimated to cost over $8,000,000, is included in the SRC's 12-year road improvement program.

One of the points which has never been made clear is just what the city's obligation would be if the project goes through.

Norman Pritchett, chief engineer of the SRC, said some months ago that the State Roads Commission was working on a plan for local participation which would be favorable to cities, including Cumberland.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Albertus J. Oxendine vs. Nadine M. Oxendine.

WM Workers Plan Trip To Elkins

Hagerstown Group To Travel June 26

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 25 (AP)—About 500 Western Maryland Railway workers are going to take a busman's holiday next month on a one-day round-trip excursion train from Hagerstown to Elkins, W. Va.

Emory Wolfe, president of the Western Maryland Railway Employes Social Club, said the trip was planned because of the "terrific response" when a similar one was offered last fall.

This year, he said, there will be a second outing in August, to Baltimore for an inspection of the railroad's big marine terminal at Port Covington and a tour of Baltimore harbor.

The trip to Elkins on June 26 will include side trips from there to Mouth of Seneca Trail and from Davis, W. Va., to Blackwater Falls Canyon.

Wolfe said Western Maryland employes will get first call on tickets and if there are any left over some may be sold to the public.

The Western Maryland no longer operates a passenger service from Hagerstown to Elkins, but the route includes some of its most beautiful scenery. Some of its most spectacular railroad operations, involving movement of heavy coal trains through the rugged mountains, also are in this territory.

Phone Service Expansion Set At Lonaconing

Additional telephone service will be provided in Lonaconing this year with the placement of 6.5 miles of aerial cable and 48 poles at an expenditure of some $37,000.

F. H. Koontz, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company office in Lonaconing said the additional line will be put into service in the latter part of this year.

The project, which will care for held applications, regrades and rural line relief and growth, was recently authorized by the telephone company's Board of Directors in Baltimore.

The total amount authorized by the Board during the May meeting was $954,000—part of the $30,000,000 service expansion and improvement program planned for Maryland in 1954.

Fund Controls Tightened On Magistrates

Deposit Rules Effective July 1

Tighter restrictions on the fines, forfeitures, penalties and costs collected by Maryland magistrates for motor vehicle law violations will become effective July 1, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Thomas B. R. Mudd informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Chapter 26 of the Acts of the General Assembly for 1954 provides changes in Section 99 and 112 of the Motor Vehicle Laws.

Section 99 provides:

Must Use Bank Account

"Every trial magistrate shall promptly deposit in a bank or banks as specified by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles in an account or accounts opened in his official capacity, all fines, forfeitures, penalties and costs imposed and collected by him in cases involving violation of motor vehicle laws. All money so deposited shall be subject only to the order of such trial magistrate or his lawfully constituted successor in office for the purpose of remitting to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles the money so collected and deposited."

Section 112 reads in part:

"The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles may by regulation require the several trial magistrates to give such additional bonds as in his determination shall be advisable or necessary in relation to the amount of fines, forfeitures, penalties and costs imposed and collected by the magistrates in cases involving violation of motor vehicle laws . . ."

New Bonds Set Up

Commissioner Mudd also informed the county commissioners that his office has established the additional bonds, effective July 1, at $10,000 each for the two Cumberland magistrates and $5,000 each for the two Frostburg magistrates and $5,000 for the magistrates of Oldtown, Barton, Mt. Labor Says It Has Issued No Unsigned Political Letters

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference announced yesterday it has issued no literature concerning the coming city elections.

William G. Rice, president of the conference representing AFL, CIO, Railroad and Independent Unions, said the only communications it has issued were personal letters sent yesterday to candidates, notifying them they have been endorsed by the Unity Conference.

He said the conference will issue no publicity concerning the endorsements and that candidates are free to make use of the backing, but are under no obligation at all to do so.

The conference, Rice said, will work wholeheartedly with any candidate it endorses, but will not publish any anonymous literature concerning any candidate.

He said incorrect statements have been made that the conference has put out literature pertaining to the present city council.

The congregation of Emmanuel Methodist Church will hold "open house" in the new parsonage Saturday from 3 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Clyde Slider was general contractor for the project which offers more advantageous dwelling facilities for the pastor and family.

The large basement will be used to house some of the Sunday School classes which need more space because of the growth of the Sunday School.

The Youth Fellowship of the church will use the basement for its meetings and activities. Ministers and congregations of the Cumberland area are invited to attend, according to Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor.

Friends and neighbors of the congregation are also included in the invitation to the "open house" in the parsonage located on Humbird Street.

Speedy Probe Is Sought By Commissioner

A speedup in the investigation of business transactions between the Allegany County Commissioners and the Commercial Press is being sought by Commissioner James Orr, who is an officer in the firm.

Orr has written a letter to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher concerning the investigation, which he said had been under way for several weeks.

Orr wrote: "During the past several weeks, investigators from your office have been gathering information from the business records of the Commercial Press, which I have heard is in accordance with a recommendation of the April grand jury relative to the transactions.

"As you know, I am an officer, shop manager and stockholder in this company. As one of the commissioners of Allegany County, I would like to have this investigation completed as soon as possible; and I want to extend to you and your investigators my full and complete cooperation in furnishing any and all information from the records of the Commercial Press.

"When your investigation is completed, if your office is of the opinion that there is sufficient evidence to warrant your taking action against me in connection with any of these business transactions, I would greatly appreciate it if you would promptly have a warrant issued charging me with whatever offense I may have committed.

"In order to save time and public expense, I will file a petition with the Circuit Court for Allegany County waiving indictment by the grand jury, and requesting that an information be prepared and filed by the state's attorney's office charging me with whatever offense may be involved.

"The Circuit Court will then be in a position to pass on the matter of my guilt or innocence without delay."

Fletcher said he had been requested by the April grand jury to make the investigation and that it had been under way for some time. He added that the probe will be completed within a few days and a decision in the matter can then be made.
